Leathernecks Patrolling An Ever-Widening Area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, where many of the air (AP) — The commandant of the strikes against Communist U. S. Marine Corps said today, North Viet Nam originate, and his leathernecks "are prepared in the Huc-Phu Bai area 40 to take any steps necessary" to get their job done in Viet Nam.

Gen. Wallace W. Greene Jr., said on his arrival at Saigon Airport that while the U. S. Marine role in Viet Nam depends on what the other side may do, "we certainly will not sit on our rear ends and do nothing."

"We are here to do a job and we will do it."

Definite Assignment

Greene said the Marines had a definite assignment "to insure security of the Da Nang area." There are about 8,000 Marines ashore around the big U.S. and Vietnamese air base at Da

John Martin Van Rooy

Printing Firm Head, Leader Of Elks, Dies

John M. Van Rooy, Founded Company in Appleton in 1916

John Martin Van Rooy, 78, 1201 Oakcrest Drive, Appleton, died today after a long illness. He was a leader and prominent Wisconsin Elk, died at 9:04 p.m. Monday after a long illness.

Founder and president of the 34-year-old Van Rooy Printing Co., he lived most of his life in Appleton, where he was born Aug. 13, 1886. He started out in the printing trade as a young man, working for the old Appleton Crescent and Appleton Post and briefly for Milwaukee and Racine newspapers.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Mary's Catholic Church with the cortege forming at 9:30 a.m. at the Brettschneider-Trettin Funeral Home. Friends may call after 3 p.m. Wednesday at the funeral home; the rosary will be recited there at 8 p.m. Wednesday and an Elks Memorial service will be held at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Organized Business

Van Rooy organized his first printing business in 1916 under the firm name of Van Rooy and Timmers. The name of the company was changed to the Appleton Press in 1924 and in 1931 the present firm was established, specializing in for-

Deadline Delayed for Strike by Steel Union

Production Halt Viewed As Threat to Economy by Johnson Administration

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A four month steel strike reprieve was virtually certain today, lifting what the Johnson administration viewed as a disastrous threat to the nation's economy. Ratification by the United Steelworkers Union and 10 major steel firms is expected to be a mere formality Wednesday, swapping a postponement of Saturday's strike deadline for a pay raise of 11.5 cents an hour.

"This is a good day for the economy," said federal mediator William E. Simkin after union president David J. McDonald and chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper put their initials on the agreement.

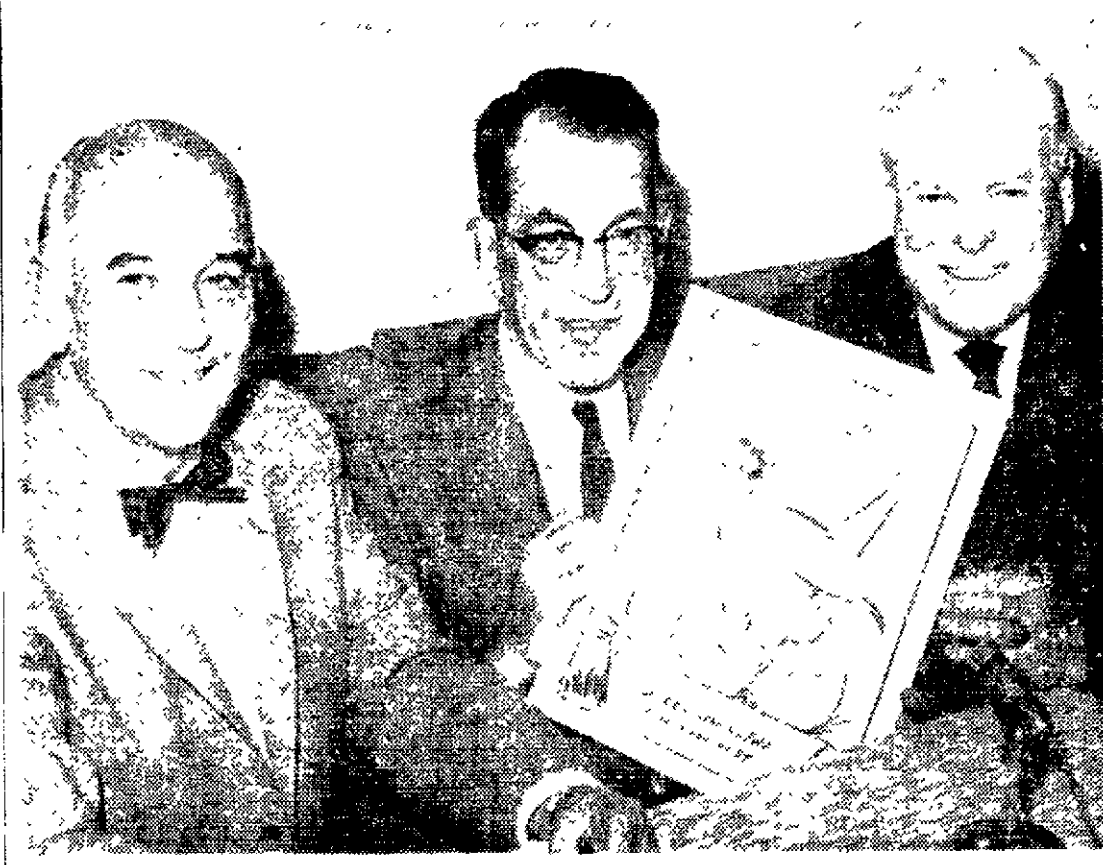

The stock market promptly rallied, canceling earlier losses when the agreement was reported Monday.

Price of Delay

McDonald emphasized the 11.5 cents is only the price the industry must pay for a strike delay and that the union still expects to win at least 17.9 cents an hour in wage gains.

Although the steel firms and the union's wage policy committee still must ratify the agreement, Simkin was so confident he planned to return to Washington today.

Negro Youth's Death Sparks Demonstration

Schoolmate Taken Into Custody for Shotgun Slaying

PARKESBURG, Pa. (AP) — Police said a white youth shot a Negro youth to death Monday, touching off a rock-throwing demonstration by Negroes in this southeastern Pennsylvania farming community.

An angry, jeering crowd of more than 100 children and adults alike threw rocks, smashing windows of a service station where the Negro youth was killed. There were no injuries and no arrests reported, although two unidentified white youths were taken into custody by police.

Police said Preston Ferguson, 16, was killed by a shotgun blast inside the Thomas Oil Co.

Taken into custody for the slaying was Theodore Houck, 15, a white youth, who attended Oetarra High School with Ferguson, and works at the station.

Negroes started gathering outside the station about three hours after Ferguson was shot, hurling rocks and bricks at windows and at trucks parked nearby. Some Negroes tossed broken bottles at another station and a small group entered a restaurant, where they demanded, and got service. Police said the owner acknowledged he had never served Negroes there before.

Police said other Negroes, driving to the area from surrounding communities, roamed through this rural community of 2,500 in cars.

Authorities from surrounding towns arrived to reinforce the local force.

Ferguson had gone into the service station late in the afternoon and got into an argument with Houck, police said. A shotgun blast into Ferguson's stomach killed him. Houck was arrested and held at the juvenile home in nearby West Chester.

Long Fight

But he added: "The fight against the Communist Viet Cong in the south will probably continue for some time."

In London, the British government endorsed a Soviet proposal for an international conference on Cambodia which the British think would provide an opportunity for informal peace talks on Viet Nam. But the move seemed doomed to failure.

Informed sources said the Cambodian government advised the British that Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, wants neither the United States nor the South Vietnamese to attend.

U. S. Viet Nam Policy

Soviet Criticism Cited as Baseless

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Adlai Stevenson accused the Soviet Union today night of baseless attacks on U.S. policy in Viet Nam which he said virtually torpedoed any chance for a meaningful disarmament debate in the United Nations.

Authorities from surrounding towns arrived to reinforce the local force.

Ferguson had gone into the service station late in the afternoon and got into an argument with Houck, police said. A shotgun blast into Ferguson's stomach killed him. Houck was arrested and held at the juvenile home in nearby West Chester.

Stevenson told the 114-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission that in a speech lasting 53 minutes, Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko devoted only 36 seconds to disarmament.

"If this day's work is what the Soviet Union had in mind when it called this meeting, our worst fears will be confirmed that little will be accomplished here," Stevenson said.

Meeting Sought

The Soviet Union had asked for a meeting of the commission, on which all U.N. members have a seat, as a prelude to reconvening the 18-nation Disarmament Committee in Geneva.

Opening the public debate, Fedorenko delivered a blistering attack on U.S. foreign policy, particularly in Viet Nam.

He described the atom bombing of the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II as an experiment of the Pentagon. He said tests of new weapons were being contemplated in a Southeast Asian country — an obvious reference to Viet Nam.

Nuclear War

Fedorenko claimed that U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had made it clear at a news conference in Washington that he has "reserved the right to unleash nuclear war in Viet Nam."

The Soviet delegate said "this is fraught with serious consequences for mankind."

McNamara said at his news conference there was no military requirement for use of nuclear weapons in the present situation in Viet Nam and that no useful purpose could be served by speculation on remote

Tunisians Besiege Arab Embassies

TUNIS (AP) — Thousands of shouting, slogan-chanting Tunisians besieged four Arab embassies today in retaliation against anti-Tunisian demonstrations in the Middle East.

Police and guard units beat back the crowd around the Egyptian Embassy. One policeman was injured.

Cordons of police held the crowd at bay around the Syrian Embassy.

Then the crowds headed for the Iraqi and Jordanian embassies.

President Ibrahim Bourguiba's moderate Israeli policy and his call for negotiations with Israel are at the root of the unrest, which has plunged Tunisia's relations with the Middle East Arab nations to a new low.

Sentences Dealt Out In Riots That Led to Ike Cancelling '60 Trip

TOKYO (AP) — The Tokyo District Court handed down suspended sentences today ranging from 8 to 18 months for 22 left-wingers who organized the demonstration that resulted in cancellation of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's 1960 visit to Japan.

The defendants led the demonstrators who mobbed Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty. They were protesting the U.S.-Japan security treaty. They were convicted of holding an unauthorized demonstration and obstructing the police in their duties.

U. S. Court Backs Outagamie Petition

Ruling May Compel North Central To Provide Service at New Airport

North Central Airlines apparently is being compelled by the 7th District United States Circuit Court of Appeals to serve the Fox Cities at the new Outagamie County Airport.

A decision reached Monday afternoon by the court has left all parties involved in the Winnebago County-Outagamie County dispute over North Central service at a loss to explain exactly what it means.

When the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) learned that Outagamie County planned to close its old Town of Grand Chute is hereby ordered that the effectiveness of CAB Order No. E-22056 dated April 19, 1965, of which review is sought in this case, be stayed until the final disposition of petitioners' petitions for review in this case and in Case No. 14994 in this court."

The ruling was signed by U.S. Court Clerk Kenneth J. Carride.

Attorneys Uncertain

County and the CAB aren't certain of the exact effect of the court order.

Ponath said the court ruling compels North Central to serve the Fox Cities at the county's new airport.

Mark Catlin, the Appleton attorney who is chairman of the county board's airport committee, said, "The legal effect of the court order is to require them (North Central) to move."

"However, I don't think we should jump overboard except to say that the court's decision is favorable to the county's interest."

Hoffa May Relinquish Union Post

DETROIT (AP) — Teamsters Union President James B. Hoffa says he will step down from his post as head of the 1.7-million-member labor organization if he goes to prison.

Hoffa has been convicted and sentenced to a total of 13 years imprisonment, plus a $10,000 fine, for alleged jury tampering and misuse of the Teamsters pension fund, but has appealed both cases.

The Teamsters president said he would give up the reins of the union rather than try to run it from behind bars, if he loses the appeals.

Fighting Flares In Malaysia

KUCHING, Sarawak, Malaysia (AP) — British paratroopers killed five Indonesian raiders Monday in a sudden flareup of fighting in the jungles of Malaysian Borneo, a military spokesman reported.

One Briton was killed and six were wounded, one seriously.

The spokesman said the heaviest fighting took place shortly before dawn when a large band of Indonesian regular troops attacked a British outpost under cover of fierce mortar fire.

5 Nations to be Included

Soviets, French Agree On Disarmament Talks

PARIS (AP) — The Soviet Union agreed today to a French proposal to call a five-power conference on disarmament to the include the world's atomic powers, reliable French sources reported.

The sources said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko agreed to the French proposal in his second series of talks with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

The French, who have never endorsed the Geneva disarmament conferences, long have supported the idea of a meeting of the world's five atomic powers on the problems of disarmament.

Atomic Nations Only

Such a conference would embrace the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Communist China and would exclude participation by nonatomic nations.

Gromyko emerged smiling from a 2 1/2-hour meeting with Couve de Murville.

"We discussed today the problems relating to European security and especially concerning ways of regulating the German question. We also have discussed problems relating to the activities of the United Nations and certain questions on Franco-Russian relations," Gromyko said.

Gromyko declined to elaborate. French sources confirmed the Soviet visitor's description of the talks.

Diplomats in Paris believe Gromyko came to Paris with the aim of achieving some kind of French commitment to the view that two Germanys — East and West — exist.

The Soviet hopes appeared to gain a boost last Feb. 4 when French President Charles de Gaulle told a news conference that the German question could be solved only by Europeans and indicated that the situation in Europe had changed since World War II and required a new approach.

Responsible sources said it was unlikely that Gromyko would be able to obtain outright French recognition of East Germany.

Life Busy, Hectic for Stan Musials

BY JERRY CURRY

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mrs. Stan Musial burned her hand turning a roast the other day and said: "I guess this proves I'm just a housewife."

Lillian — friends call her "Lil" — has been married 25 years to Stan Musial, who set more records than any man in baseball history during his playing tenure with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Musial now is, among other things, director of President Johnson's physical fitness program, a vice president of the world champion Cardinals, a restaurateur and a successful businessman.

"Life is more hectic now that Stan has retired from playing," says Mrs. Musial. "He didn't retire. He just stopped playing baseball."

She said she would rather have Stan play because "at least then he was on some kind of schedule."

Mrs. Musial is like most married women. She worries about what her husband likes to eat.

"Stan eats a lot of steak on the road," says Mrs. Musial. "At home he likes stuffed cabbage, stews and other things like that."

She also said Musial likes to barbecue in the back yard of their modest home in south St. Louis.

"We have our own barbecue sauce made from a top secret special recipe," she says.

The Musials have four children — Dick, 24; Geraldine, 19; Janet, 15 and Jean, 6.

"Janet is very sports-minded," says her mother. "She wants to try for the Olympics four years from now either as a horsewoman or in track."

Jean is in the first grade and the two older children are married.

"I do a lot of driving," Mrs. Musial says. "I guess driving is the way I spend a lot of my time — taking Jean to school and back, marketing and doing the things that have to be done."

She grinned and said: "I've been trying to talk Stan into getting a chauffeur."

Mrs. Musial says she "used to do a lot of charity work, but now things have tapered off."

The Musials are Roman Catholic and are active in their parish.

"I'm 45 years old now," Mrs. Musial says. "And I plan to take up golf soon. After a person gets to 40, they need something to keep them in shape."

"Stan likes to play football with the kids in the back yard," she continues. "And everyone but me — I'm a sunbather — likes to swim."

Lillian cuddled the family poodle, Jacques, and said her children were teaching her and Stan some teen-age dances called the Frug, Watusi and the Swim.

"The dances are very athletic," she says and grins. "They've already taught us how to do the double twist."

Mrs. Stan Musial, married to the baseball star for 25 years, says that life is more hectic now that Stan has retired from baseball. He follows no set schedule but maintains an active life as director of President Johnson's physical fitness program, serves as vice president of the Cardinals, and keeps busy as a restaurateur and business man. ## Your Problems

Mother Sees Need to Stop Marriage to Homosexual

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: During the past few months I was pleased to see a once-forbidden subject, homosexuality, discussed openly and intelligently in your column.

Twenty-two years ago, over the violent protests of my parents, I married a man who had confessed to me that he was a homosexual. I was strongly attracted to him and confident that I could get him to change.

A year after our marriage a daughter was born. Within a few weeks my husband was sent overseas. Following his release from the service he said he had met a man he preferred to live with and wanted a separation but not a divorce. I agreed and turned down his generous offer of support since I had an inheritance from my grandparents and didn't need financial help.

My husband and his friend moved to another section of the country and I have seen him only five times in the past 20 years.

Six months ago my daughter began dating a young man who is startlingly like her father in appearance. He is brilliant and charming in the same way that her father was. Last week he told her about his homosexual tendencies. I suspected it the first time I met him but said nothing. Now I feel my life has come full circle and my daughter will surely be trapped in a tragedy which duplicates my own.

Should I speak to the young man privately and ask him to stop seeing my daughter? Or should I tell my daughter of my tortured existence and beg her not to make the same mistake?

— M. V.
Dear M. V.: Do not speak to the young man and do not bring your husband into the picture. Presenting yourself as "the horrible example" will only complicate matters and add to your daughter's problems. Enlist the help of a physician or a psychiatrist and make it a three-cornered discussion, with the physician or psychiatrist doing most of the talking.

Don't be surprised if your daughter marries the young man anyway. People who feel strongly about romantic involvements seldom listen to reason. (You are exhibit A.) They may know, intellectually, that fire is hot and that it burns, but they insist on getting their own blisters, nonetheless.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter Rosalie has a good job in an office. She is going steady amount, to the penny, with never a word about paying for Rosalie's meal.

What kind of a man wouldn't even treat his own girl to dinner? My wife and I have been having some arguments over this. She says I am too hard on the boy. I say he is cheap. What do you say? — Rosalie's Pa

Dear Pa: This may come as a shock to you, but when a young man accompanies his girl and her parents to dinner he should be treated as a guest. This means Pa pays the check. All of it.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped drive-in for a sandwich and a envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1965)

First Aid Measures Take Strain From Most Stains

Are you on the spot because away the surface before the of rust stains on the sink, cigarette burns on the carpet, or grease marks on your upholstery?

Get rid of the evidence by using these methods of stain removal: You can lift the stain, sponge it out, cover it up, bleach it, or float it away, depending on what kind of stain it is and what material or fabric it's in.

The bleach method Old Sol himself can bleach out superficial mildew in white fabrics. Wash first, hang out of doors on a sunny day. Iron rust stains, if light, can often be removed from sinks by rubbing the spots with a cut lemon, another form of bleaching.

The lift method Grease stains, as well as oil, grass, food, and ink spots, love to lodge on expensive upholstery and carpeting as well as your most delicate clothing fabrics. Modern chemistry has come up with easy-to-use spot-lifters, the new way to remove spills and stains without harmful rubbing and without leaving a ring. Applied in paste form, some spot-lifters dry to a chalky powder which draws up and absorbs the spot. Powder, and spot, are simply brushed away. The paste contains special solvents formulated to "lift" almost every type of spot from wool and silk, as well as Acrilan, Dacron, nylon and other synthetics. This new lift method can also be used to keep wallpaper spotless.

The sponge method. Some fabrics have been glazed or otherwise treated to repel common spots. This treatment is often used on raincoats and slipcovers. Immediately after spills occur on these materials you have a fighting chance to get off scot free by sponging spot has time to penetrate. Use light strokes with a sponge, the idea is to keep the water on the surface, not let it penetrate the fibers. Blow, or pat with a towel afterwards, to dry the surface moisture.

The float method Hardened spots of paint, lipstick, and tar may need a floater of lard or vaseline to combine with them, loosen them up, and make them amenable to a regular grease remover. Wind a small piece of cotton around a stick, dip in vaseline or lard, then swab gently at spot. Leave for a few minutes, then apply a grease remover.

The cover-up method. Some spots, unlike Lady Macbeth's, can simply be concealed. If a cigarette burn in the rug still shows after you have removed the charred fibers, match the color of the rug with a crayon, rub on the burned spot. (If the hole has gone clear through, it's a job for a professional.) Mars and scratches on the heels of pastel shoes often yield to the crayon cover-up method, too. If this doesn't work, have them redyed. Light mildew spots on leather can often be obliterated by paste wax which leaves a shine in the place of the white spots.

But whether you lift stains out, sponge or float them out with a bit of old-fashioned elbow grease, or simply cover them up, there's almost always some way to get off the spot, and take the strain out of the stain.

Women Argue Pros, Cons Of Taking Space Controls

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. space officials apparently think not greater than being the first woman's place is here on earth — at least for the time being.

Some of the gals think otherwise. Some agree. Others couldn't care less.

The mixed reaction came after four women, whose names were not disclosed, were turned down Monday by the National Academy of Sciences in Washington as applicants for scientist-astronauts. There are 28 astronauts in the U.S. space program. All are men.

"I think it's a shame that women aren't given the same chances as men," said Jerrie Mock, a Columbus, Ohio, housewife who flew a light plane around the world last year.

No Prestige Mary Ann Noah, of Fairway, Kan., winner of the 1964 powder puff Derby, said: "I hate to be a traitor to my sex, but I do think men can go it alone in this field for a while. The time will come when women can contribute, but space flights should be left up to the men for the time being."

Mary Atkins, of Wichita, Mrs. Noah's copilot in the 1964 derby, said: "We couldn't gain any prestige by putting a woman into space just for the sake of doing it — Russia has beat us to the punch on this. This country feels protective toward women and leaves it to the men to do the pioneering."

Katherine Peden, Kentucky commissioner of commerce, said she wished she were young enough to apply.

"I feel the hazards of being in the first woman astronaut are not greater than being the first commerce commissioner in Kentucky," said Miss Peden.

Cattie Lou Miller, commissioner of public information in Kentucky, said: "I've always thought it (technology) as a field for men, anyway, and I've never given a thought to women invading it," she said.

Judith Thompson, a Chicago housewife, and Eleanor Lally, a Los Angeles property manager, said they couldn't care less.

"Why should some darn fool woman want to shoot herself at the moon?" asked Mrs. Thompson.

"I've got sufficient to do down here," said Mrs. Lally. "Now honestly, you'd think, to hear them talk, that we women should feel discriminated against. But I don't feel discriminated against. I just feel indifferent. If I were an escapist, maybe I'd want to go to outer space, too, but really, I'm just too busy. So let them have it."

Would Be Fun "I guess they think women aren't smart enough," said Mary Davis, an Indianapolis housewife. "I think it would be great fun to be an astronaut. Just give us a few years, and we'll make it to the moon."

Mrs. Larry Starnes, wife of a Houston architect, said, "They can leave it to the men. I won't even go up in an airplane."

"Women definitely belong in space," said Shirley Roloff, an Atlanta public relations executive. "They have gone into everything else, so why not space?"

Barbara Blumenfeld, a Des Moines secretary, said, "I think a woman's place is here on earth."

Janet Mann, a retired bartender from Quincy, Mass., says she'd like to go to the moon some day, but: "Not until I can do it for $13.50. It ought to be safe then. I like things well tried."

The couple was honored at a reception in the parish hall of the church.

Mrs. Morehead, a graduate of Edgewood College, Madison, attends the University of Denver, Colo. Mr. Morehead recently received his discharge from the Air Force. The couple will live in Denver.

Marriage Announced

Mrs. June Donovan, Milwaukee, formerly of Neenah and Appleton, became the bride of Robert V. Estes, Milwaukee, April 3 in the chambers of Judge Chris Seraphin, Milwaukee.

The couple will be at home in Milwaukee after Saturday. Mrs. Estes is employed at Milwaukee Children's Hospital. Her husband is public relations director of Portland Cement.

Correction Ronald Kohl was a junior attendant at the wedding of Miss Nancy Philippi and Rudolph F. Brunner. His name was inadvertently omitted from Sunday's Post-Crescent account of the wedding.

Sheinwold Bridge Hand Tells How to Reach Moon

If you're planning to shoot a rocket at the moon, read this column first. Don't aim at where the moon will be when your rocket is in the mood to land somewhere. A bridge hand should make this clear.

Opening lead — ♥ Q

West opens the queen of hearts, and South must not consider dummy's king because that is a dead duck no matter when it is played. South must think of where he wants the lead to be after the first two tricks have been played.

Suppose South plays the king of hearts from dummy at the first trick. East wins and returns a heart to West. Two tricks have been played, and the lead is in the West hand.

West leads a diamond, and East wins with the queen. East gets out safely with a black card, and he waits patiently for his other diamond trick to defeat the contract.

Play Low

Now go back to the first trick. Suppose South plays the low heart from dummy instead of the king. West must lead another heart since any shift will allow declarer to run the three clubs and discard a heart from dummy. As a result, the lead is in the East hand after the play of the first two tricks.

East cannot safely lead a diamond, so he gets out with a spade or club. South draws two trumps and runs the three clubs. Then he takes a diamond finesse, losing to East's queen. Now East cannot make a safe return. If East returns a diamond, dummy gets a free finesse; and if East returns anything else, dummy ruffs while South discards a diamond.

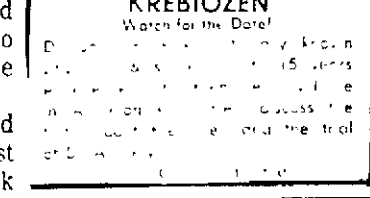

The important thing is to aim for the end of the second trick. If this doesn't prepare you for a trip to the moon, we give up.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold, S 9 4; H Q J 10 7; D 9 8 4; C 7 6 3 2. What do you say?

Answer Pass. You have good heart support, but the hand is a bit too weak for any response. Some experts would raise to two hearts anyway, hoping to deceive the opponents more than partner; but this is pretty risky.

Posture Flaw Is Menace

Any posture flaw is a menace to one's health and appearance, but the fault known as sway-back is a triple threat. First off, the figure leans back — off balance — like a tree in a high wind.

This causes the back to curve inward and the position puts a strain on the spine. Eventually, worsens of course with age, if not corrected. One honest look at your profile in a long mirror will tell you if you are a sway-back. The first step to correction is a small adjustment in your stance. Simply school yourself to carry your weight forward on your feet. If you did not now jam your weight down on your heels, you would not tip backward.

Next, you need to strengthen your back muscles by performing this routine: On floor, back down, raise knees until feet are flat. Without letting feet leave floor, pull up to sitting position. At first you may need to brace feet under a low chair. Work up from three to fifteen repeats, daily.

Museum Plans Told by Mental Health Board

Plans for an "Our Many Worlds" museum have been announced by the Outagamie County Mental Health Board. The event is scheduled from 1 to 9 p.m. May 22 and 23 at KP Hall.

Bridge Players Vie For Tourney Honors

A full weekend of bridge was played at the Northeastern Wisconsin Sectional Bridge Tournament Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Conway Hotel. About 300 people participated in the events, which got underway with the Mixed Pair game Friday evening.

Elected to head the association for the ensuing year were Horner Denison, Sheboygan, president; Bruce Nelson, Eau Claire, vice president; Mrs. H. J. Weller, executive secretary, and John Fourness, treasurer. The election took place at a Sunday morning breakfast.

Local Winners

Among winners in the Saturday evening Consolation Pair were Mrs. Warren Pelletier, Neenah, and Mrs. David Abraham, Appleton, second place. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Weller took second place honors in the Fox Cities Special Pair Game Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fourness were tournament directors. Lloyd Doerfler, president of the Appleton Contract Bridge Club, was chairman of the event.

Mrs. H. J. Weller takes a long moment to be sure.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

ANNIVERSARY DOESN'T EXIST

Dear Louise: Father died last winter. We, his children, always celebrated our parent's wedding anniversary with a gift. Now we are confused, wondering if we should still give mother something. If we do nothing, it might make her angry. If we do, maybe it would bring back too many memories. Would it be all right to skip this year and give her one next year?

Louise Davis Answers:

The wedding anniversary ended with the last one. I strongly advise that you give no gift this year or in the future. When the date arrives, your mother will be saddened and a gift would only make her feel worse. The nicest thing you can do is to see that her time is occupied not with any partying or celebrating but by making the day as cheerful or pleasant for her as possible so that her mind won't be dwelling on her wedding day or the ensuing years of marriage. She is now a widow and it is something that you all will have to face.

Few Precautions Assure Vacation Peace of Mind

Spring has come and vacations can't be far behind. If your family is like most others, you'll all hop into the family car and hit the beheading road. Before you do, though, there are some things you ought to check.

Here is a list of suggestions that should be helpful to the woman of the household: Remember to have your car lubricated and oil changed when due. See that the brakes, light and steering mechanism are checked. This is most important. It could save your life.

Keep a set of flares or other form of light in the car for use in warning oncoming vehicles of danger should you have to stop by the roadside at night. Carry a clean cloth, paper and pencil in the glove compartment. You'll use these items many times before hitting home port again.

Fasten a set of duplicate car keys some place on the outside of the car. Then you'll have an emergency set in case you lose the originals, or lock them in the car. Go over your insurance policies; make sure that all of them are in order and paid up to date. (Be sure to carry in your glove compartment the name of your insurance company, your policy number and the name and phone number of your agent.)

And then there are some things the housewife should do on the home front, in addition to such obvious ones as stopping the milk delivery and arranging for someone to take care of household pets. Turn off, inside the house, the water flow to outside faucets. (The neighbors' little children will love you if you don't, but

Mrs. David Meily claims the trick.

The Ailing House

How to Run Ant Family Off Property

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: How can we get rid of the ants in our backyard? We have small children who play a lot in the yard.

A: Locate the ant nests, and with a stick jab several holes in these. Pour an ounce or two of carbon tetrachloride into each hole, then close the hole. The vapor of the liquid is heavy and will work down through to the nest, killing the queen who is the center of the colony. A leaflet entitled "Ants in the House and Garden, How to Control Them," (No. A177:28) is available for 10 cents (no stamps) from Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20405.

Q: We have a light, cream-colored asphalt tile on our basement floor. This floor is very hard to keep clean, due to the children playing. I have tried waxing the floor with regular floor wax, and also polishing it with the floor polisher to no avail. Have you any suggestion for a wax or something I could put on this tile to make it easier to keep clean?

A: Never use a polishing type wax on asphalt tile. The binder in asphalt tile softens when it comes in contact with the solvent in polishing waxes. Use only a self-polishing (water-base) liquid wax on asphalt tile. A special asphalt tile wax is made by a nationally-known flooring manufacturer and is available at tile dealers, as well as large housewares and hardware stores. Wash small areas with a mild detergent solution, followed by ample rinsing with clear water.

F. C. Weinkauf, Revisions in Site Plan for Ex-Appleton Einstein School Get Okay

Also Was Thilmayr Official, Founder of Mt. Olive Church

Frank C. Weinkauf, 85-year-old former Appleton alderman, died Monday after a brief illness.

Weinkauf, 844 E. Pacific St., represented the First Ward in the city council from 1935 to 1945. He also was general superintendent to Thilmayr Paper Company's Kaukauna and Appleton plants. He retired in 1933, but continued as a consultant through 1938.

He was born June 17, 1879, in a covered wagon in the Blue Hills of Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Weinkauf celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in 1933.

A founder of church

A founder and charter member of Mt. Olive Lutheran Church, he also belonged to Appleton Lions Club.

Weinkauf is survived by his widow, one daughter, three sons, two sisters, seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Mt. Olive Lutheran Church with burial in Highland Memorial Park. Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home from 4 p.m. Tuesday to 10 a.m. Wednesday and after 10:30 a.m. at the church.

A memorial fund is being established for the Appleton Memorial Hospital and Mt. Olive Lutheran Church.

Rapist Added to FBI's '10' List

Donald L. Payne, a dangerous convicted rapist with a long record of offenses who has been charged with a sex attack upon a Houston, Tex., girl in July, 1959, has been added to the Federal Bureau of Investigation's list of 10 most wanted fugitives.

McDonald's Restaurant, 1932 N. Richmond St., Appleton, donated half of its profits from Saturday's sales to the St. Elizabeth and Appleton Memorial Hospital fund drives. The project was sponsored by the Xavier Key Club and the Northside Kiwanis Club. Helping pre-

Football Field Will be Relocated At New Appleton Junior High

Revisions in the site plan for the Einstein Junior High School, of the audio-visual department. Included are filmstrip projector, were approved by the Appleton Board of Education Monday night. Specifications and tape recorders. The school will be prepared by William R. Knuth, director of business bursement of 43 per cent or affairs, for bidding as soon as approximately $3,800 under the National Defense Education Act.

The football field, which will be sodded in order to be ready for use this fall, will run north and south, surrounded by a 6-lane track. The 220-yard straightaway will have eight lanes. Bleachers seating 2,500 are planned for the west side of the field. The field also will be used by AHS West in the future.

The hardball and softball diamonds will be relocated slightly to provide more outfield area. A bicycle parking area southeast side of the school and sheltered from view by land-foot vinyl asbestos. If the board is not satisfied after a year, the contractor will install vinyl asbestos without additional cost. Supt. William Spears reported

On the site rough grading is complete and catch basins have been installed. Four tennis courts, instead of the originally planned three, will be constructed north of the school. A play area 80 feet by 160 feet will have a heavier crushed rock base under the blacktop mat so that it could be used for parking if necessary. Parking will be provided for approximately 70 cars. A 12-foot fence will surround the tennis courts with a 10-foot fence along the east property line.

Knuth estimated costs of the site work at $56,500 with approximately a $51,000 balance remaining in the site fund now. He said that savings in the furniture account might be transferred to the site account to make up any difference. He also suggested the possibility of permanent bleachers, provided sufficient funds remain in the bond issue.

The board approved purchases of $8,887 in audio-visual equipment for Einstein Junior High School upon recommendation of the board.

The board at its April 12 meeting notified the Appleton Education Association and the newly organized Appleton Teachers Union, Local 1573, that it would recognize neither group as the official exclusive bargaining agent in contract negotiations.

The hearing will determine the ground rules for the election as well as those eligible to participate. Supt. Will I am Spears was instructed to attend the hearing, along with legal counsel.

School plan Mrs. Betty M. Milheiser, appearing in support of her plan for revisions in the educational system, urged the board to consider acquisition of a third high school site on Appleton's north side now. She said that the present elementary enrollment would overcrowd Appleton West and East by the time it reaches high school age. She suggested a site in the 95-acre Langdyke property recently acquired by the city for $1,600 per acre. Copies of her plan were distributed to the board for study.

Armin Gerhardt Jr., head of the industrial arts department, has been named coordinator for Appleton High School participation in the 1963 Vocational Act, Spears reported. About half of his time will be needed as coordinator and another industrial arts teacher can be added to the staff to reduce the pupil load. Such a teacher was included in the authorization given the superintendent earlier for hiring. Federal aid will

Business Up $37 Million In Fox Cities

An increase of more than $37 million in wholesale business was reported in the Fox Cities from 1958 to 1963, according to a United States Department of Commerce census.

The census showed Appleton's sales increased from $81,461,000 in 1958 to $85,104,000 in 1963. Neenah Menasha's increased from $20,866,000 to $38,836,000 in the same period.

Outagamie County business went up from $95,790,000 in 1958 to $128,388,000 in 1963. The number of wholesale firms increased from 162 to 179 with payrolls going from $6,445,000 in 1958 to $8,565,000 in 1963 in the county.

Youngster Trapped By Ironing Board, Police Saw Her Free

Spring is the season for getting into things, one mother said today.

Her daughter, 18 months old, had to be cut out of an ironing board "trap" by Appleton police.

Tammy Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hall, 1702 N. Wilmer St., stepped into the bracing of the ironing board in the living room where Mrs. Hall had panned to do ironing.

Police used a hacksaw to free the child who received a slight cut and some fright from her ordeal.

Close Parking Ramp to Keep Paint Off Cars

The top deck of Appleton's West Parking Ramp was barricaded to traffic today, and for a good reason.

It seems the water department has decided to have the water tower across the street painted.

However, it's feared paint drippings will float through the air and polka-dot parked cars.

The municipal parking ramp will be barricaded during the time the crews are painting the tower which is 150 feet high from ground level.

A special aluminum paint is being applied to the 50-year-old tower.

"Let's hope the paint will help hold it together," quipped Mayor Clarence Mitchell.

He said the barricades would be removed from in front of the parking ramp upper deck each day when the painters leave.

Officials did not estimate how long the paint job would take.

Set WERB Hearing For Teacher Units

Agency Asked to Hold Election, Decide Teachers' Representative

The Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) has scheduled a hearing at 11 a.m. Tuesday, May 4, at the courthouse on the petition of the Appleton Board of Education for the WERB to conduct an election among school employees to determine representation regarding exclusive labor negotiations.

The board at its April 12 meeting notified the Appleton Education Association and the newly organized Appleton Teachers Union, Local 1573, that it would recognize neither group as the official exclusive bargaining agent in contract negotiations.

The hearing will determine the ground rules for the election as well as those eligible to participate. Supt. Will I am Spears was instructed to attend the hearing, along with legal counsel.

Break Ground for 100-Bed Nursing Home in Appleton

Multi-Million Dollar Facility On Southeast Side to be One of Two Built by Minnesota Firm

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Ground was broken this morning on Appleton's far southeast side for the first construction phase of a multi-million dollar senior citizen nursing home.

The 100-bed facility is the first of two in the Fox Cities being built by the Como Corp., a St. Paul, Minn., holding company which has been specializing in building and operating nursing homes for the past three years.

Kenneth Mueller, St. Paul, a representative of the corporation, was in Appleton Monday and made final arrangements for excavation work. He also completed plans for erecting a 100-bed home in Neenah with colonial style construction.

Fox Valley Service "We selected the Fox Cities for the two new facilities after conducting an intensive survey," Mueller said. "The nursing homes are being built to serve the entire Fox Valley area."

General contractor for the Appleton project is Hagman Construction Co., of Minneapolis.

The Appleton nursing home development, which eventually will be expanded to include a clinic, pharmacy and four-plex bungalows for senior citizens, is being built in the Colony Oaks Subdivision on Newberry and Briarcliff roads.

Mueller said the home here will be of contemporary design, will be finished in five months and ready for occupancy. The building alone will cost an estimated $750,000.

Plans for the ranch-type structure, which will be predominantly brick, have been approved by the Appleton building inspector, State Board of Health and the Wisconsin Industrial Commission. The building permit was issued Monday.

"We picked the southeast side site because it is centrally located among the Appleton Memorial, St. Elizabeth and Kaukauna Memorial hospitals," Mueller said.

"It is also located near the proposed expressway route along the city's southside, making it apparent the city will grow more rapidly in that area," Mueller added.

The proposed clinic and residential bungalows will be connected to the home in the second phase of the development which will be located on a seven-acre tract. The entire area will be landscaped.

100 Guests The home will house 100 guests. It will contain private and two-bed bedrooms, large sitting rooms, wheel-in-type showers for wheelchair patients, both elevated and low bath tubs, beauty parlor, barbershop, physical therapy room, dining room, an all stainless steel kitchen and its own laundry.

Mueller said the building will have no steps, and handrails

Top Priority Given Needed Addition At Huntley School

Appleton Board to Seek Okay To Construct 12 Classrooms

Construction of a 12-classroom addition to Huntley School is roughly estimated at 22,700 square feet and costing about $250,000 with equipment, will be given precedence over any other elementary building projects with the hope that it will be available for use in the fall of 1966.

The board will request permission to hire an architect to plan the addition when it meets with the council May 5 to approve final plans for Appleton

Huntley School was constructed in 1959 at a cost of just under $1 million, intended for a maximum of 650 students. Prin. Richard F. Haas reported the enrollment now is 740 pupils, using such auxiliary rooms as the music room, cafeteria and auxiliary gymnasium as teaching stations. Enrollment for next year is more than 800 by actual count.

Boundary Changes. Shrinking the boundaries to transfer 62 pupils to the Jackson-Franklin centers and moving an intermediate 3 group to Einstein Junior High School next fall still will leave the school with more than 700 pupils.

James Retson, elementary curriculum coordinator, showed a sketch by George G. Narovec, architect for the original building, of how the two-story addition would fit into the site.

No additions would be necessary to the heating plant. Additional toilet facilities would be needed in the addition which otherwise would consist of six rooms up and six down for 360 students, bringing the school's capacity to 1,010.

Mobile Classrooms Mrs. Walter Heil, board member, raised the question of mobile classrooms. Cost of such pre-fabricated rooms put on a concrete slab was estimated at $20,000 each. However, there are open areas around Huntley School where home construction is underway, indicating a need for additional permanent classrooms. It also was suggested that any excess rooms could be used to decentralize the special education program for educable children.

It was mentioned that a somewhat similar situation exists at Lincoln School where three auxiliary rooms are being used as teaching stations. However, that school is serving a larger area than originally intended while Huntley School boundaries have been cut back the last two years to reduce enrollments.

The board will hold a special meeting at 7 p.m. May 5 to go over final plans for Appleton High School East. The board instructed Architect Raymond LaVee to revise original specifications rather than to list changes as an addendum to bidding specifications. Following the special meeting, the board will meet with the city council at 9 p.m. May 5 for final approval of AHS East plans and authority to call for bids.

Offers Lot for Sale Joseph Bellin, 1315 N. Morrison St., has offered to sell a lot at the southeast corner of Morrison and Randall Streets to the city for $16,500, suggesting it upgrading the Appleton school could be used for off-street parking for the Wisconsin Avenue-Oneida Street business area.

The work of Comella upgrading the Appleton school could be used for off-street parking for the Wisconsin Avenue-Oneida Street business area.

Parent Registration Registration sessions for parents are being conducted for the first time this spring in the elementary instrumental music program. This informs parents about objectives of the program and of their role in it.

Comella reported that the 66 at least two pilot classes in strings for parents be conducted in parallel those of their child-junior high bands will be dren. The whole family might be saving away at the same requests are approved. Right of Press Challenged by School Board

MENASHA — A barrage of opinions from members of the Menasha board of education was sparked by Robert Bryan at Monday night's meeting when he challenged the rights of the press to keep the public informed and attend meetings of the board which deals with the negotiating of contracts for teachers.

He read part two of Section 14.50 of the Wisconsin Statutes starting "all meetings of all state and local governing and administrative bodies, boards, commissions, committees and agencies, including municipal and quasi-municipal corporations, unless otherwise expressly provided by law, shall be publicly held and open to all citizens at all times, except as hereinafter provided. No formal action of any kind shall be introduced, deliberated upon or adopted at any closed executive session or closed meeting of any such body."

And part d, of item 3, same section, which he feels entitles the board to executive or closed sessions of the purpose of "deliberating or negotiating on the purchasing of public property, the investing of public funds, or conducting other public business which for competitive or bargaining reasons require closed sessions."

Controls on Shoreland Use Gains Legislative Support

Bill Proposed for Protecting Recreational Water Values

MADISON — Legislation that may pave the way for effective local controls to protect recreational water values in rural Wisconsin has been given a substantial push in the legislature.

The Legislative Council has endorsed a bill brought in by an interim legislative study committee which asks for special zoning powers for counties that would permit land use controls on river and lake shorelands without veto power by town governments.

Existing city, village and town powers to impose such regulations on plating and other development on shorelands would be retained. The new legislation is intended, sponsors said, to fill the vacuum in the vast areas of rural Wisconsin and especially in the water-rich upper half of the state where control legislation has not yet been provided. The measure would give optional powers to county boards, but also provided some persuasion and prodding from the state government.

It provides for the creation of a division of waters within the state department of resource development, which would be charged, among other duties, with developing standards for such local shoreline use regulations and would have some grant-in-aid money to offer to cooperating county boards.

The zoning controls, if enacted by counties, could control shoreland use within 300 feet of any stream, and 1,000 feet inland from any lake. The committee told the Legislative Council that the legislation "is founded upon a genuine need for reasonable control of shorelands use regulation. The need will become progressively imperative, since available water resources cannot be expanded or multiplied to fit their uncontrolled uses by an ever-growing population. The same limitation applies to shoreland exploitation of shorelands for residential or other uses.

The measure would also encourage joint administration of shoreland regulation by counties, cities and villages.

Many counties now have general land use zoning ordinances, including some in the northern districts. But one of the weaknesses of those ordinances is that they are effective only in those towns where the town boards have explicitly ratified them. The study committee found that in water protection problems the county is a more logical regulatory authority than the town, because down-stream control efforts are often negated by the lack of controls up-stream, or by activities in another town jurisdiction on a large body of water.

Control Needed

Subdivision control on shorelands is often needed to prevent undue crowding of shoreland users, or other over-extension of uses that result in "uncontrolled water contamination", the investigating committee said.

The new state waters division legislation would prepare comprehensive plans based on a use classification of navigable waterways everywhere in the state to be used as a guide for counties and other local governments.

His recommendations would serve as a guide for the local legislative controls, according to the new state legislative proposal.

Prevent Pollution

The principal objective of the legislative controls would be prevention of lake and stream pollution through the uncontrol-

Speedy Chase Pitfalls Listed In Booklet

Traffic Department Issues Information To Young Drivers

A Wisconsin Motor Vehicle Department safety division booklet is being issued to young drivers in Outagamie County outlining the pitfalls of high speed chases involving a traffic violator and a policeman.

The pamphlet states that "there have been cases in which the pursuit of fleeing violators resulted in tragic events which turned out to be more serious than the initial violations themselves."

The booklet states the actions have caused "some persons" to denounce the pursuing officers and the idea of pursuit itself.

The booklet will be distributed through the sheriff's department.

Youth Killed

In two Outagamie County cases, two young people were killed two years ago when they attempted to outrun a police car near Kaukauna. The youths had been drinking beer when the policeman approached their parked car on foot.

In another case, two escaped convicts from Alabama, driving a stolen car, attempted to outrun a pursuing state patrolman who had seen them commit an arterial violation last year. The two were killed instantly when their car flipped off an exit on U.S. 41 near Little Chute.

Most drivers who attempt to flee are in five categories: a frightened teen-ager afraid that if caught, he will lose his driving privileges, a problem driver with too many points on his record, a malcontent with some beers who can outrun anything on the road, a car thief, or a dangerous criminal.

"Under Orders"

The booklet is warning motorists that policemen are "under orders" to make pursuits at high speeds and "because he knows the reasons behind those orders."

Matters would not be improved, the booklet indicates, if "word got around" that punishment could be avoided by "merely running away."

Jotting down a license number and following up with an arrest, calling for help and establishing a roadblock are not always the practical answer, the booklet states, because the car may be stolen or may have no license number, help may not be nearby and a roadblock may be a danger to innocent motorists and may not be easily established.

Commission Didn't File Water Plans

The Appleton Water Commission is in hot water with the State Board of Health for failing to file plans with the agency.

It was brought to light through a recent story in a trade magazine pertaining to the installation of water mains here.

Officials of the State Board of Health were numbered among those who read the story, and after reviewing their records, failed to find plans and specifications covering the proposed work.

The law says all plans and specifications for water main and sewer installation must be filed with the Board of Health for approval before work can be started.

In a letter to the city clerk's office today, Robert C. Hill, a public health engineer, said the city failed to follow the requirements of section 144.04 of the state statutes.

"We will appreciate you requesting your engineer to submit three copies of the plans and specifications covering the presently proposed improvements to this office for review and written approval prior to commencement of the work," Hill wrote city officials.

Ambulance Case Dismissed

Appleton Aware Of Plans in 1956, Judge Keller Rules

City of Appleton charges that an Appleton ambulance service operator violated zoning restrictions in the operation of his business on the city's southside, were dismissed today by County Judge Gustave Keller.

Judge Keller dismissed action against Lawrence Seidl, 116 S. Weimer St., on grounds that city officials knew that Seidl planned operation of an ambulance service in the area when he made application for a building permit on Oct. 10, 1956.

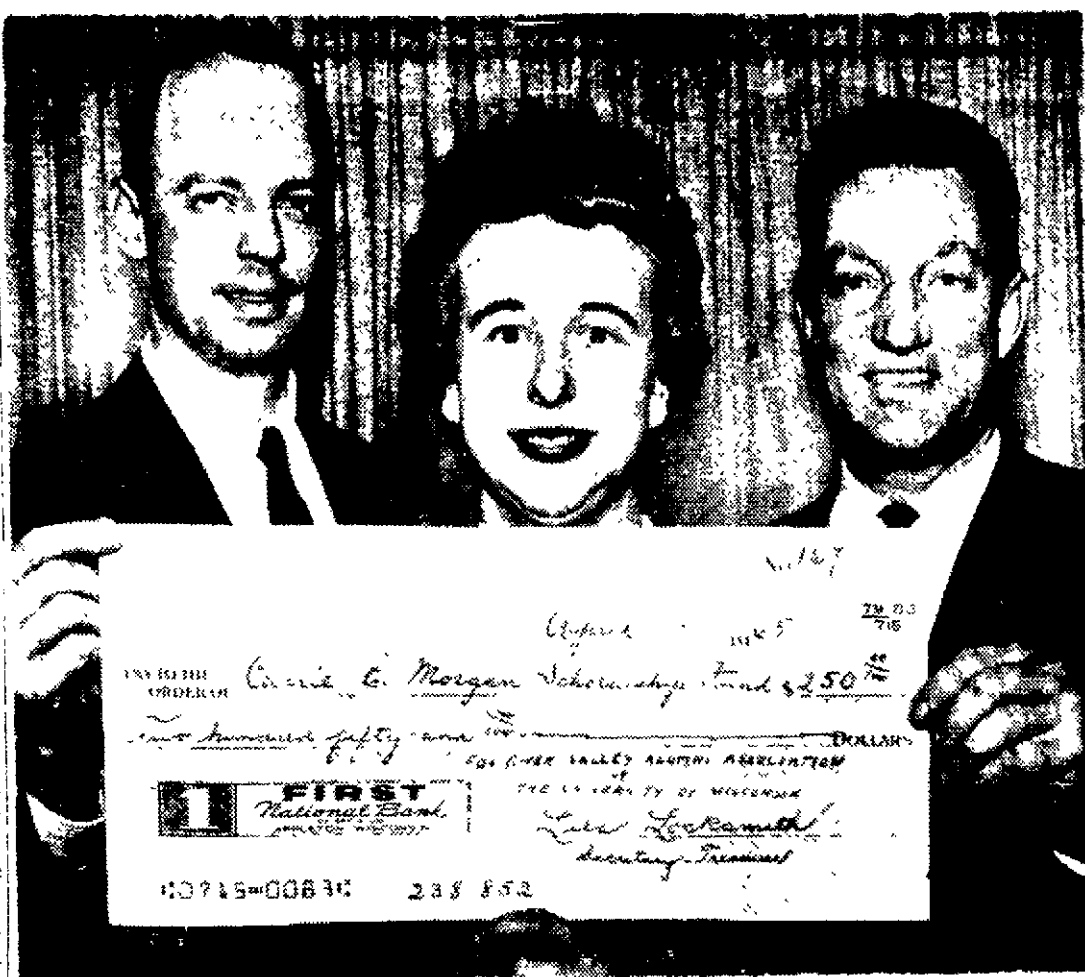

Judge Keller said that city officials had not raised issue with the alleged violation until Seidl received written notice of a non-conforming use of the premises from Building Inspector Charles Magnette on Dec. 10, 1963. Seidl had acquired a "vested interest" in the city in the years between the actions, the court ruled.

The city charge against Seidl was heard by a jury on Jan. 27 which ruled in a special verdict that Seidl had made known to city officials of his intention of having an ambulance service operate from the Weimer Street address.

Former city building inspector Walter Bogan testified he issued the permit in 1956 after Seidl indicated he wanted to build a garage to house the ambulance service at the address.

100,000 on Payroll

Only 5 Per Cent of USDA Employees Directly Associated With Farming

BY RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Department of Agriculture is a tremendous operation with a payroll of roughly 100,000 men and women. But only about five per cent of them are involved in work directly associated with farming.

George Mehren, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, stressed that point here Monday in addressing the spring meeting of the Newspaper Farm Editors of America. The bulk of the USDA's work, he asserted, is for the direct and indirect benefit of all the people.

"It is unfortunate that the public seems to feel that the USDA is only a department of farming," Mehren observed. "Such an assumption is far from the truth."

Correct Misconception

He suggested that the farm editors and writers could help to correct the misconception. Forty-five of them are meeting here this week for conferences with agricultural and other government officials.

Agriculture Secretary Orville S. Freeman said he anticipates a long, rough road ahead for President Johnson's farm bill proposals on subsidy payments and voluntary production controls.

Some 32,000 different enterprises come under USDA regulations, according to Mehren. Among them are packers and stockyards, fruits and vegetables, and milk orders.

No End
On grades, Mehren said, there is no end to trouble and controversy, because prices to a large extent are governed by arbitrary decisions. Grades are the controversial, debated Food Protection for the public, and the food goes to people who need it without waste or questionable practice.

work of U. S. Department of Agriculture officials and associates. Inspectors, following detailed check sheets, make sure that milk and meat, and other commodities are pure and wholesome.

Mehren expressed enthusiasm for the USDA's consumer food programs. He had special applause for the school lunch program which involves 17.5 million youngsters.

ASCS Program

Mehren said there is only one agricultural program which has been little talk of a dairy might be considered as being program. Action can be expected as soon as the various dairy Agricultural Stabilization and groups and milk producing areas are able to approach Conservation Service.

"But only 5,000 of the 100,000 something like agreement on people in the USDA are involved what they want, he indicated.

that, because of overcrowded conditions, it will be necessary to use the auditorium at AHS West as a teaching station. The auditorium seating area has been used as a study hall for 600 students the last two years.

The board voted to provide up to $750 each for a maximum of two French teachers to participate in a National Education Association tour of France this summer. Cost of the tour is $1,100. However, the board will receive a credit equal to the amount spent on purchases of films used in the educational program. Since the board has $3,000 budgeted for film purchases, the subsidy will cost nothing.

The contract for magazines, subscriptions for the public schools for the 1965-1966 term was awarded to American Readers' Service on its low bid of $2,670.

Girl Injured In Auto Mishap

NEENAH — Kathleen A. Anthres, 18, 121 Plummer Court, was treated for a lacerated forehead and released from Theda Clark Memorial Hospital after an auto accident in which she was a passenger in one of the cars involved.

The mishap occurred when a car driven by Carlton W. Klemp, 18, 121 Plummer Court, was traveling south on Henry Street and approaching the Winnebago Avenue stop sign. A vehicle driven by Harry F. Oehlke Jr., 39, made a right turn off Winnebago Avenue onto Henry Street colliding with the other car, police said.

Klemp was advised to see a physician after he complained of soreness and swelling to his chin, police said.

will be installed along the corridors. The nurses station will be in the center of the building. Rooms will have both the audio and visual nurses' call systems.

There also will be a nurses' drug room for distribution of prescriptions prescribed by patients' doctors.

Drug Store, Clinic

The future medical clinic and drugstore will be located on the corner of Newberry Road and Kingston Street, Mueller said.

Medically prescribed programs such as rehabilitative nursing, occupational therapy, physical therapy and planned activity programs will be offered to assist, supervise and teach home residents to participate in activities that will enable them to become as self-sufficient as possible, Mueller explained.

He emphasized residents will be under the medical care of a physician of their own choice.

The nursing home will be non-denominational.

Mueller estimated the home, will employ about 50 persons including nurses, aides and maintenance personnel. He said the payroll would range from $100,000 to $150,000 a year.

Judge Drops Conduct Case

Prosecutor Fails To Appear When Trial Scheduled

County Judge Gustave Keller Monday dismissed a disorderly conduct action against an Appleton man when a prosecutor from the Appleton city attorney's office failed to keep a trial appointment in court.

Dismissed was action against Ralph Ready, 50, 2800 E. Newberry St. A $50 bond was returned.

Ready had pleaded innocent after he was arraigned March 1 in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Appleton police had been called to the Ready home on a family disturbance complaint. According to police records, Ready had to be subdued by policemen and was taken in handcuffs to the police station where he remained overnight.

One policeman was slightly injured when he was kicked in the scuffle.

The case was to have been heard at 2 p.m. Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. When a prosecutor did not appear at 2:05 p.m., Judge Keller moved for dismissal on grounds the prosecution was not present to make a case against Ready.

City Atty. Fred Froehlich said today he "knew nothing about the case." Asst. City Atty. Dennis Herrling said he plans to start new action against Ready.

Two Drivers Plead Innocent to Driving While Tippy Charges

Two motorists have pleaded innocent to charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and will face trials in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 in July. Both appeared in court Monday.

Andrew C. VanderHeyden, 36, 3292 Ballard Road, will face trial July 15. He was arrested on E. Wisconsin Avenue early Monday by Appleton police.

Jerome D. Yetka, 52, Cudahy, faces trial July 23. He was arrested Saturday by state police on U. S. 45. He was also charged with passing in a no passing zone.

Both posted bonds of $250 on the driving while under the influence charge, and Yetka posted an additional $50 on the passing count.

George R. Becker, Glen Ellyn, Ill., will speak at a Downtown Kiwanis Club dinner meeting Wednesday on "Changing Times in the Brokerage Industry." Becker is a partner in Wayne Hummer and Co. and a member of various stock exchanges.

The U.S. has made an alliance with Australia and New Zealand to repulse any aggression against Malaysia. If Sukarno's Indonesian forces should attack Australian troops in Borneo, the U.S. would be bound to action, he said.

Dr. Fifield said there are no known documents formally linking North Viet Nam with either Red China or Russia. He said it would be easier for the communists to "de-escalate" if the situation deemed necessary.

He said that if the U.S. fails in its obligations, the cause of national liberation around the world would spring up and possibly the Russian policy of peaceful co-existence would be endangered.

U.S. policy in South Viet Nam is to take the war to North Viet Nam in a carefully escalated, graduated manner, moving more and more to the north, Fifield said, and he favored the current action.

Jingo Reveals Trials Of Contest Judging

Picking a Miss Appleton Not So Easy As It Looks; Besides Being Responsibility

BY JINGO

Two of Jingo's colleagues had the good fortune of being members of the judging panel for the 1965 Miss Appleton contest that make for this contest staged superbly by the surprise.

Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce again.

With this opportunity Jingo cannot refrain from sending along to you a behind the scenes look at these arduous duties.

Jingo

Since his colleagues have received a bit of gentle ribbing, there must be a feeling that judging a Miss Appleton pageant is something less than difficult work. Quite the contrary, the recent judges claim.

Of course, the prevailing sense of oppression that weighs over the panel is the blanket of responsibility thrown over the judges by the Jaycees in impressing them that the chances for the city of having a Miss Wisconsin or a possible Miss America rest in their hands. In this era of imminent nuclear holocaust, this may not seem too heavy a consideration — but it is heavy enough, especially at the moments of decision.

As is well understood, the pageant has three parts to it, a parade of evening gown models, a talent show and a parade of play tog models. A compilation of the votes in each of these categories results in the selection of five girls from which Miss Appleton and her two runners-up are chosen.

Not so well known is the fact that each judge is isolated from the rest and none of the judges knows until the audience does, how the voting came out.

Kaukauna Man Injured

SHERWOOD — Leroy Priebe, 44, 321 E. 19 St., Kaukauna, was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital after being injured Monday in a car-truck collision on State 55 two miles west of here.

Priebe was driving south on 55 and Charles J. Sikora, 29, 215 W. Third St., Kimberly, was backing a milk van onto the highway when the accident occurred, police said. Sikora was not injured.

THRILLING RELIEF FOR HOT FLASHES FOR WOMAN AFTER WOMAN IN DOCTORS' TESTS!

"If you're miserable from the hot flashes and accompanying irritability, restless feelings of change-of-life—you may be suffering unnecessarily!"

Lydia E. Pinkham Tablets brought needed relief from such "functional" caused suffering to woman after woman in doctors' tests. Yes! Research findings show Pinkham's is modern relief from distresses of change-of-life. Get gentle Lydia E. Pinkham Tablets, today.

case of a contest similar to the one conducted Sunday where all of the talent offerings were of considerable quality—which made for a wonderful evening of entertainment, but a terribly difficult job of judging.

Having been habitual audience participants in judging contests, Jingo's colleagues were looking forward to having a ringside seat on the job, hoping to learn the magic spell that produces a winner.

However, they report to Jingo that they are still in the dark.

With the audience response to the announcement of the winner it appeared the magical choice was a popular one and one that could very well bring the Miss Wisconsin title to the city. When she was a little girl Luane Briske had a toy factory named after her. Let it be known that she is still a "doll."

The "afterglow" art series at the Viking Saturday proved as go understands, even give great consideration to the girl's face! Perhaps because of this national conflict, the credits for "81" into the College Avenue talent are double that of either the beauty parts. Even with the more acceptable standards, the judging talent, this part, too, is very subjective. Anne Bancroft's "The Pumpkin" is especially true in the Eater." See you there!

Phone Hour Marks Its 25th Year

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — The Bell Telephone Hour celebrates its silver anniversary with a spectacular review of some of its top artists and performances drawn from its six years on television. On the podium is Donald Voorhees, the durable maestro of the orchestra since 1940. (COLOR)

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — "Beneath the Ashes" on Combat is two-thirds hokey and one-third excellent drama. A young private is sent off on a dangerous mission by the skeptical Lt. Hanley, who has received a note from a woman saying the soldier's wife is dying and demanding he should be sent home.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Don Grady, who is usually busy as the untroubled teen-ager on My Three Sons, displays the other side of his fine acting talent playing a disturbed senior on Mr. Novak. A boy who would rather "top his teachers with a gag than get top grades" he is doomed to flunk.

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — Marvin Kaplan, an indefatigable automation expert on McHale's Navy, joins forces with Joe Flynn to make the PT-73 crew obsolete.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — George Hamilton, the slick, handsome movie star host of HulaBalo, is almost pushed into his dressing room by the show's dancers who steal the spotlight with latest "op art" fashions. (COLOR)

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — There are some broadly funny moments on The Red Skelton Hour when Fred Gwynne as Herman Munster, comes face to face with Red, as Freddie the Freeloader, in the sketch, "Ta-Ra-Ra-Burn Today."

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — The gloom still hangs heavy over the many heads of Peyton Place. Allison knows that Elliot is her father; Betty can't forgive her father for the shooting, and Constance pays a surprise visit to Harrington.

9-10 (Channel 2) — The Doctors and the Nurses are busy being involved with "cops and robbers" again in "The Witnesses." Shirl Conway and Michael Tolan are on the scene (an out-of-the-way bar and grill) when an off duty policeman goes berserk and shoots up the place. Soon he is their patient, too.

9-10 (Channel 11) — The Fugitive begins its rerun schedule with "When the Bough Breaks." On the lam once again Richard Kimble (David Janssen) quits thinking about his own problems to befriend his fellow passengers on a fast-moving freight train. Repeat.

Episcopal Worship to Be Changed

NEW YORK (AP) — A major effort to revitalize the public worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church is under way with the aim of relating the sacraments, the prayers, the ceremonies and the music of the church to every aspect of a modern Christian's daily life.

The three-day liturgical conference opened Monday with more than 1,000 clergymen and laymen from across the United States in attendance.

The Rev. Nicholas Koulletis of Los Angeles, president of Associated Parishes, Inc., a national organization of priests and laymen involved in the liturgical movement, said he was amazed at the number of metropolitan churches that find a "meaningful ceremonial" in the few of the computers.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Dorell, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Dorell, Ph.D.

ALL WOMEN THINK ABOUT IS CLOTHES/ TRUED FALSE

False. What they want for Christmas is an indication of what they think about these days. Five years ago the Chicago Printed String Co. found that one out of four (2 percent) of the women they surveyed wanted something for their homes for Christmas. In 1964, nearly half (46 percent) said they would like furniture or appliances or something for their homes instead of clothes for themselves. You cannot assume that all the little woman wants is something to wear, anymore. It was never true for some women!

If the legal driving age were raised to 25, would beginners still have accidents? Yes—No— Yes. Psychologists find that most accidents occur as the result of mistakes in the early stages of learning how to drive. If the age for getting a license were raised to 25, it is thought by some that accidents would still be most frequent in the first few years after licensing. We can't help but wonder if the tendency to "show-off," so common among teen-age boys, would be reduced by age 25. What do you think?

Are You "Word-Blind"? If you are in doubt, send for the fascinating booklet, "How to Read Faster and Better," and recognize any bad reading habits you may have and find out how you can correct these flaws. Dayton Crane Operator Finds Rare Photos of Wright Brothers School

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Crane operator Wesley Carter looked into the pile of rotting, yellowed subjects, but said she had never seen these pictures before. They were taken, she said, in 1910 when Orville and Wilbur Wright set up a training camp for fliers near Montgomery, Ala., for a time. Carter, who is from Battle Creek, Mich., describes himself as "a nut about antiques and museums."

There were more than 100 negatives, but most were blank or too deteriorated to print. One printable negative showed Orville Wright with two of his first flying students. Another showed four early pupils of the Wrights. Others showed a 1907 model plane in flight.

Turning Point

That airplane was a major turning point in aircraft design, Carter said, but was seldom photographed. It was the first model on which the Wrights used a rear elevator, or up and down control.

Carter found the negatives in the old newspapers between the ceiling and second floor of an urban renewal project. "I picked them up and the newspaper disintegrated into dust," Carter said. "Then I showed Orville Wright with two of his first flying students. Another showed four early pupils of the Wrights. Others showed a 1907 model plane in flight."

Seek More

Carter and his coworkers then took the ceiling apart piece by piece, seeking other relics. But all they found was a 1918 dime. It was the first model on which the Wrights used a rear elevator, or up and down control.

5 Children Die In Home Fire

WELLSBORO, Pa. (AP) — Five children were killed early today in a fire that destroyed their home about three miles east of this north-central Pennsylvania community.

Coroner Dr. Harry Williams said the victims, ranging in age from 2 to 10, were the children of Donald Boyce, 38, and his wife Rosemary, 32. He said the parents evidently had leaped to safety as the flames raced through their two-story home, but the children were trapped.

The parents were admitted to Hospital here, suffering from smoke inhalation and shock. Both were listed in fair condition. Mrs. Boyce also suffered slight burns of the face.

Longevity Reward

Boyle 'Volunteered' For Duty in Viet Nam

BY HAL BOYLE

EN ROUTE to Saigon (AP) — Many firms have a policy of rewarding employees after long service. So does mine.

On completing 30 years at the same old typewriter stand, I was summoned by an executive who told me:

"We are giving you a free two-month trip. All expenses paid. Where do you think is the worst place in the world to be right now?"

"Viet Nam," I replied without hesitation.

"Well, isn't that a strange coincidence?" exclaimed my kind superior. "That's the very place we got you a ticket to."

Then he added as an afterthought:

Monsoon Soon

"Better get over there as soon as you can. This monsoon season is about to start — and you certainly wouldn't want to miss that."

So it was that I learned I had volunteered to help cover a third war. The others were World War II and our "police action" in Korea.

When I informed friends that I was going to Viet Nam they were of two opinions. Some said they envied me, because they felt sure it would be an interesting and educational assignment. The others, whose views I happen to prize more highly, simply said, "You must be out of your mind."

A friendly cab driver to whom I confided my mission had still a different reaction. Turning and looking critically at my thinning hair and bulging waistline, he shook his head and remarked:

"Really Worried"

"Gee, now I'm really worried. I didn't know the situation out there was that desperate. Lyndon Johnson sure is scraping the bottom of our manpower barrel."

The first action in approaching any war is always a battle with red tape. It took two weeks and 12 dull needles to go through a series of medical shots protecting against small-

Kenosha Woman Is Accused of Killing Husband

KENOSHA (AP)—A 28-year-old mother of five children was held today on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of her husband, who was found off Saigon, where the strange frontier war we are engaged in seems to be deepening daily.

There I hope to spend as much time as I can with the American men stationed with our different services in Viet Nam, and write for their folks back home the nature of their job and how they feel about it. In war, what happens to the men who pull the triggers is always more humanly interesting than where the bullets go or the bombs fall.

Cynthia Schmidt, 28, who is expecting her sixth child in about a month, was taken into custody early Monday morning. The first degree murder warrant was issued later in the day by Dist. Atty. Joseph Molinaro who declined to give details of a statement she gave to investigators.

Undersheriff William Schmitt said Mrs. Schmidt had gone to the home of a neighbor after the slaying and the neighbor called police.

Schmitt said the husband, Donald, 37, had been hit three times with a heavy andiron and his skull fractured. The undersheriff said he apparently had been struck Sunday evening. The body was found in the bathroom.

Council Okays Revision of Election Law

MADISON (AP)—The Legislative Council kept the vote open mos. of Monday and finally rounded up enough support to continue a comprehensive election law revision prepared by a committee that met 27 times on the project.

Before sending the proposal on to the Legislature, the committee struck from it the most substantial change it proposed—required registration for voters in all cities, towns and villages with a population of more than 1,000. Registration now is optional in communities with populations below 5,000.

Only nine of 15 members were present when a vote was called, but 10 votes are needed to introduce study bills, and if the proposal was to get to the Legislature, it had to be forwarded before the council goes out of existence May 1 to be replaced by another.

Sen. Robert Knowles, R-New Richmond, received permission to keep the roll call vote open, by day's end, Assemblyman Glen Pommerening, R-Wauwatosa, released 24 hours earlier from a Madison hospital after surgery, voted for the revision and it was advanced on a 9 to 1 ballot.

The vote was enough to kill a committee proposal that would allow candidates to get on the ballot with a filing fee as well as nomination papers.

Also defeated because of the alignment of the votes was a proposal that would have substituted runoff elections for the March primary and the April election.

Knowles' Tax Plans Rapped by State AFL-CIO

MADISON (AP)—Tax raising proposals by Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles were criticized Monday by the State AFL-CIO legislative conference as a shift to lower and middle income taxpayers.

The 225 delegates adopted a resolution which contended that a surtax on income levies would be better than the governor's recommendations, which would increase the sales tax by $86.2 million and raise $42.6 million in other levies to balance a record $632 million 1965-67 budget.

The delegates, who earlier had given general backing to Knowles' budget, said alternative sources of revenue also should include levies on railroad and banks.

Levels Remain Well Above Flood Stage; Small Business Agency Announces Additional Assistance

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Wisconsin's Mississippi River communities continued today to count the damage left by a slowly receding record flood crest now spreading destruction in Iowa and Illinois.

Water levels remained well above flood stage at La Crosse, Prairie du Chien and Cassville, the last and largest of the state cities battered by the rampaging river.

Even before cleanup operations were well started, another federal agency—the Small Business Administration—announced the offering of additional assistance programs.

The SBA said in Washington Monday that all sections of Wisconsin affected by floods starting about April 6 had been declared disaster areas. A week ago today, the agency designated Dane, Dodge, Green, Jefferson, Rock, Walworth and Waukesha counties disaster areas as the result of tornadoes.

The designation permits both flood and tornado victims to apply to SBA for reconstruction and rehabilitation loans at three per cent interest. Eligible for the loans are owners of homes, businesses, churches and charitable institutions.

Loan Specialists The agency said loan specialists would be stationed in areas where they could best help the flood and tornado victims.

At Madison Monday, Gov. Warren P. Knowles said losses from flood and tornado damage could be deducted from state income taxes. Tax Commissioner James Morgan said limits and procedures for declaring the deductions were being worked out and should be available next week.

La Crosse Mayor Warren Loveland said basements in 83 square blocks of the city were flooded. 71 business places were flooded and 42 other business places affected by the high water. He said a total of 214 homes were flooded.

Plans were being made to repair the W.A. Roosevelt building, five-story downtown La Crosse structure that developed cracks when flood waters were pumped from the basement. A 35-foot section of the basement wall collapsed Sunday.

Officials said there had been no further shift in the building and employees of a wholesale hardware firm went to their jobs in the structure Monday.

Water levels at La Crosse had dropped a foot from the peak of 17.7 feet, but remained more than 4½ feet above flood stages.

Officials planned to start removing today part of the five miles of dikes thrown up to protect La Crosse. The first of the dikes to be removed was the one along Highway 53. Most of the sand will be pushed into low spots on the side of the highway.

La Crosse threw $55,000 sandbags into its generally successful fight. Their cost was one of the things officials were still trying to figure out.

Loveland said the bags used by the city cost 15 cents each, and the sand to fill them six cents a yard, or not more than a cent a bag. However, many of the bags were donated by the Army Corps of Engineers. Homeowners and businessmen purchased many thousands more, building individual flood defenses.

Sandbags: $50,000 It was estimated the city spent about $50,000 for the sandbags.

There were no estimates of the numbers of bags used at Hudson, on the St. Croix, or other Mississippi towns of Prescott, Cochrane, Fountain City Trempealeau, Cassville and Genoa. Mayor Edward Farrell of Prairie du Chien said his city used 12,000 bags but all were supplied by the engineers.

There was no estimate of the value of voluntary work, but in Lynxville where help was hired to bolster a dam, pay scales ranged from $1.25 cents to $2.68 an hour.

The bags were produced by several large firms, one of them in Georgia, and were available on short notice. Loveland said they could be obtained in lots of about 20,000 from the Corps of Engineers on 24-hour notice.

Sewage Disposal Farrell said Prairie du Chien hoped to get its sewage disposal plant back in operation today. It had not operated since April 18.

About 500 persons received typhoid shots in a clinic set up at the Prairie du Chien by the Crawford County Medical Society. The remaining two shots in the series of three will be given the next two Sundays.

Bullets of Boy Sniper Take 3rd Life

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A 5-year-old boy is the third victim of a 16-year-old "extra good boy" who turned sniper, killed two motorists, wounded 11 more and then took his own life with a bullet between his eyes.

Kevin Dean Reid, shot in the head in the Sunday morning ambush, died Monday night after brain surgery at Cottage Hospital in Santa Barbara.

He died 36 hours after the attack by Michael Andrew Clark, a high school junior. Clark had run away from his Long Beach home Saturday night and wrecked the family car. Early Sunday he turned up as a sniper on a grassy hillside above U.S. 101, 60 miles north of here.

Clark, firing a 30-06 rifle equipped with a telescopic sight, killed Joel W. Kocak, 28, of Los Angeles, and Charles Christopher Hogan, 21, of San Luis Obispo.

Eleven others were wounded, either by bullets or flying glass. Among the wounded were young Reid's father, William, 41, in fair condition, and Kevin's brother, Kim, 3, who was in satisfactory condition. The others were not seriously hurt.

After a 1½-hour gun battle with sheriff's deputies, police and California Highway Patrol officers, the Clark youth shot himself.

His mother, Joyce E. Clark, described her son as "an extra good boy" and said, "when he wrecked the car, turning off the road, perhaps he hit his head."

"He never, ever, hurt anything. We have a baby pigeon and a dog and he loved them, he loved life. He was a real boy, had a lot of character."

The father, Forrest Clark, head of Clark Manufacturing Co., said his son was "just a normal, wonderful kid."

What could cause him to turn sniper and kill three people and himself?

"I don't know," said Mrs. Clark. "There's no way of knowing. The situation is completely unbelievable as far as Michael was concerned."

The White House announced President Johnson's selection Monday of this picture as "The President's Choice" for the month of April. A patient in a hospital in Sousse, Tunisia, observes her baby held by Bernadette Pieza of Chicago, a registered nurse serving with the Peace Corps. (AP Wirephoto)

Dominican Republic Planes Hit Insurgents

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Loyalist air force planes today bombed an encampment of insurgents outside Santo Domingo.

The insurgents, who want to return ex-President Juan Bosch from Puerto Rico, barred out-Deputy Dead

Among the dead was Deputy Jose Manuel Alvarez Robles, a member of the Dominican Revolutionary party. His body was found near the National Palace. Radio Santo Domingo, in rebel hands, and a radio at San Isidro air force base, controlled by loyalists, continued to claim victory.

It was impossible to assess these claims as the struggle for power continued. The newspaper El Caribe urged responsible leaders to "halt the bloodshed between brothers."

Military patrols, including some armed civilians, continued to swing briskly through the streets of Santo Domingo in the display of loyalty to Bosch. The city itself appeared calm.

Another section of Rock Island, Big Island, was inundated when a canal and the Rock River churned through streets, homes and fields in Illinois and Iowa today, battering relentlessly at soggy dikes while volunteers fought the river's worst spring rampage in history.

The Quad Cities area of Iowa and Illinois, with a population of 270,058, was hit again and again as the river bowled over levees and rushed unimpeded into cities and fields.

More residents were removed from the area Monday. More than 3,000 persons have left their homes in Illinois. Damage has been estimated at $30 million by Gov. Otto Kerner.

Lemaster Set To Open Series Against Cards

Bragan Advocates More Games in South Until Warm Weather

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Braves Manager Bobby Bragan doesn't like the wet and cold spring weather of the North and East and wants to go to something because of it.

Two of three games with the Cubs in Chicago during the last weekend were postponed because of climate conditions, and the Braves faced temperatures near the 40 mark as they prepared to open a County Stadium series with the St. Louis Cardinals tonight.

Bragan proposed that the first 12 or 15 games of the season be played in the South, instead of such places as Milwaukee, Chicago, Pittsburgh and New York.

"It's the same old story every spring," he said.

In Chicago, Cub vice president John Holland also was unhappy about the weather and had a suggestion of his own—cut the season from 164 to 153 games and start it later.

Intended to Hold

The Cubs would have liked to take on the Braves while their three top hitters—Hank Aaron, Joe Torre and Rico Carty—were on the sidelines and had intended to hold Milwaukee over to Monday if the games couldn't be completed on the assigned days.

But Holland changed his mind saying, "We're better off to wait until it gets warmer." A double-header was scheduled for July 14, the day after the All-Star game and usually an open date.

"Sure, it helped us not to play with our bigs out," said Bragan. "We'll be much stronger when we do play these two games. But the point is that there is no reason to buck the cold weather every year in the North and East. We put our players through spring training in warm sunny climate, then come home and freeze."

"We'd be much better off if we followed the warm weather more. . . . You could even play some games in Caracas, Venezuela, San Juan, P.R., or Santo Domingo in the Dominican Republic."

When the Braves and Cards begin their three-game series in chilly County Stadium tonight, the Cardinals will be trying to move out of last place and past the ninth-place Braves. The defending champion Cards are 3½ games out of first, the Braves three games.

Bob Purkey, who gave up only two hits until the ninth in beating the Braves last Wednesday in St. Louis, will start for the Cards. He'll be opposed by Denny Lemaster, who is 0-1 after running into trouble in one start and a relief appearance. Purkey is 1-1.

Two Holes-in-1 Made on Same Hole, Same Day at Taconic

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The odds are 10,000 to 1, golfers say, against two holes in one would be made on the same day on the same hole.

But that's what happened Monday at Taconic Golf Club.

The aces were made by Dr. Chester Budz and Luis Lacues, both of Williamstown, playing in separate foursomes. Each used a seven iron to collect his ace on the 155-yard fifth hole.

Grabs ABC Singles Lead; Ohio Bowler Fires 688 Series

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Ken Roeth of Dubuque, Iowa, rolled the first 700 series in singles competition and took first place Monday in the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The 28-year-old draftsman, competing in his first ABC meet, had games of 224, 257 and 219 to replace Dick Ude, Lincoln, Neb., and Henry Yager, Aurora, Ill., who led the singles division in a tie at 689.

Roeth's series was the third 700 or better rolled so far in the tournament, the others being posted in regular team and regular doubles competition.

Henry Skapsic of Akron, Ohio, posted a 688 series and took fourth place in the regular singles on games of 225, 228 and 235.

Tommy Tuttle of King, N.C., and Nelson Burton Jr., of St. Louis, moved into second place in the classic doubles with a 1-268 total. Tuttle rolled a 642 series and Burton 626.

Assumption Grid Coach Resigns After 8 Seasons

WISCONSIN RAPIDS (AP) — Don Penza, football coach at Wisconsin Rapids Assumption high school for the past eight years, resigned today effective at the end of the present school year.

Penza, a graduate of Racine St. Catherine High School and Notre Dame, said that he would become freshman football coach at the University of Wyoming next fall and do post graduate work there.

Assumption teams under Penza won three championships and was a co-champion one season in the Central Wisconsin Catholic conference. The coach's teams won 46 games, lost 18 and tied one.

Bays' Lombardi Calls Don Hutson 'Greatest Pro Player of All Time'

GREEN BAY (AP) — Curly Lambeau, founder and former player and coach of the Green Bay Packers, told current Coach Vince Lombardi Monday night that he had a star back who could kick field goals from beyond 30 yards.

Lambeau and Lombardi appeared at a service club supper honoring five former Packers greats recently admitted to the National Football League Hall of Fame at Canton, Ohio. About 700 persons attended the fourth annual affair.

Saluted were end Don Hutson, halfback Johnny Blood, fullback Clarke Hinkle, guard Mike Michalske and tackle Cal Hubbard.

One One Team

"I did not realize that five Hall Famers played on one team," said Lombardi. "In all due respects to Curly Lambeau, I think I could have done a pretty good job with that group."

Lambeau said he was sure all five could play with any of today's NFL teams. Referring to Hinkle, he said, "He could play on offense and defense."

Lambeau added, "He could kick field goals from beyond 30 yards."

Field goal failures were a key factor in the Packers' loss last year.

Gibson, a sophomore at Eastern Illinois University, won the all-events championship Monday in the 11th Intercollegiate Bowling Tournament with a record nine-game total of 1-876.

Nicklaus Heads Money Winners; Sanders Second

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus tops the Professional Golfers' Association list of 10 top money winners again this week.

Nicklaus has won $34,400 in official money to head runner-up Doug Sanders, winner of $33,245 officially. However, Nicklaus is way ahead of Sanders in total money earned — which includes unofficial non-PGA sanctioned events — by $42,825 to $36,873.

The PGA ranks its players only on money won in official tournaments.

Third man on the list was Billy Casper with a total — official and unofficial — of $42,579. Bruce Devlin was fourth with $24,564 and Bobby Nichols was fifth with $22,279.

The rest of the top 10 consisted of Bob Charles, $21,067; Dan Sikes Jr., $20,241; Frank Beard, $18,447; Bert Weaver, $17,071; and Sam Snead, $17,000.

Clinton Edges Decatur in First ML Tilt

Foxes Seek to Open Season at Quincy Tonight

Clinton edged Decatur 5-3, in 11 innings, Monday night in the only game that has been played in the 2-day old Midwest League season.

The Fox Cities Foxes and the seven other clubs were victims of the weather for the second straight day.

Larry Kerr was the winning pitcher for Clinton in relief. McGilivray was the loser. Rosario hit a homer for Decatur in the sixth with none on.

The Foxes are slated to open a 2-game series in Quincy, Ill., tonight. Hank Pawlowicz will be Fox Cities' starting pitcher.

Thursday's and Friday's scheduled Foxes-at-Burlington (Iowa) games have already been postponed. Flood conditions have not affected the Burlington ball park, but the city itself is harassed by water.

A 2-game Clinton-at-Burlington series, slated to open tonight, has also been postponed. The Clinton C-Sox whose home park has been hit by the flood, will proceed directly to the Fox Cities and work out at Goodland Field in preparation for the weekend series they will play here.

A couple other temporarily homeless ML teams may follow suit and work out here later in the week, it was reported this morning.

Carty to Return By End of Week

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Braves' outfielder Rico Carty worked out in County Stadium Monday for the first time since his release from a hospital where he had been treated for more than a week for a back strain.

Carty is expected to return to his left-field position by the end of the week.

He is one of three Braves who hit better than .300 last year who have been slowed by injuries.

Outfield Hank Aaron has seen only pinch-hitting duties as he rounds into shape after ankle surgery and catcher Joe Torre is bothered by a sore thumb.

Marcel Cerdan, Jr. Scores TKO Win

PARIS (AP) — Marcel Cerdan, Jr., son of the late middleweight champion, stopped Robert Di Martino on a third-round technical knockout Monday night for his eighth straight professional victory.

the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 Monday night and beating Koufax for the first time since 1961. Giusti pitched the Houston Astros to their fifth straight victory with a four-hit, 2-0 job against Pittsburgh.

It was the first complete game of Giusti's major league career and gave the 25-year-old right-hander a remarkable record of three victories in Houston's last five games. In four appearances this season, the former Syracuse University standout has an eye-opening 0.64 earned run average.

Struck Out Nine

Giusti was overpowering against the Pirates, striking out nine and walking none. The triumph lifted the Astros one game above .500, and Giusti received an unusual hero's welcome when he returned to the Houston dressing room.

Finally realizing it was locked, he knocked. Walt Bond responded, peered out and said: "Somebody out there knocking?"

Bond continued to eye Giusti skeptically, having a little fun, and quipped:

"Humph, we don't need him — not for three or four days more."

Bond also played a key role as the Astros scored twice off Bob Friend in the seventh inning. Singles by Jim Wynn, Bond and Bob Aspromonte produced one run and Bond scored the other on Bob Bailey's error after advancing to third on Rusty Staub's long fly.

The Dodgers and Phillies tangled in the only other game scheduled in the majors, with Koufax going for his 10th turn to Page 10, Col. 1

Danny Cater Bats Way Into White Sox Lineup, Tops Majors in Hitting

Chicago Left Fielder Has Played Every Position but Pitcher

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Danny Cater, a soft-spoken Texan, has followed a bumpy road to baseball's big show but finally has batted his way into the status of a regular with the Chicago White Sox.

The 25-year-old Cater tops the me — but I was sure glad to see the Sox are well stocked with catchers — that's one spot I'd just as soon leave to someone else."

Cater admits being a little nervous at times in his role as a regular, adding that "the only thing that really worries me, though, is money."

His wages with the Sox are $8,500.

"I married a Williamsport girl after the 1960 season and we have a home there," he said. "But now I'd just as soon move to Chicago if I can find work in the off season that pays enough."

Woman Slams 637 in Meet

Takes Singles Lead in WIBC Tourney at Portland, Ore.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — There is a new high singles series for bowlers to take aim at in the Women's International Bowling Congress today after a Salt Lake City kegler, Marge Phillis, fired a 637 Monday for the top three-game set in the tournament which opened April 8.

Mrs. Phillis, who had a try at pro golf, moved 10 pins ahead of the previous Division I singles leader, Sarah Winkler of Portland.

Her high score came after a bad start. On her first ball she fouled, then got only three pins on the next one. But five strikes in a row got her back in the groove for a 230 game, which she followed with 187-220.

The Sox obtained him from the Philadelphia Phillies along with Lee Elia last winter in exchange for Ray Herbert and Jeff Long.

Appeared in 60 Games

In 1954, his first full season in the majors, Cater appeared in 60 games for the Phils and batted .296 with 12 extra base blows that included nine doubles.

"I was a shortstop when the Phils signed me in 1958," recalls Cater, whose first sight of Chicago was in 1956 when he and fellow teen-agers from Austin, Tex., played in the Colt League World Series in Comiskey Park.

"I was turned into a second baseman when I was at Bakersfield, Calif., in 1959. The manager said I could make the double play as well as any kid he had seen. So next season at Williamsport, Pa., they made me a first baseman."

"Seems that's been the story of my life. Since then I've played every outfield and infield position, including catching a spring game once with the Phils."

straight victory against Philadelphia.

But the Phillies, triggered by Johnny Callison's homer, jumped on the ace Dodger left-hander for three runs in the first inning and that was it.

There was no indication that Koufax had suffered any recurrence of the arthritic condition that has troubled him this season. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning after surrendering seven hits.

After Callison's homer with one out, Richie Allen singled and Dick Stuart drove him in with a double. Stuart scored when Al Ferrera misjudged Cookie Rojas' drive and it sailed over his head for a triple.

Rojas scored the final Philadelphia run in the ninth when he walked, stole second and came home on Clay Dalrymple's single. That turned out to be decisive.

Score Single Runs

The Dodgers scored single runs in the fourth and sixth, then made it 4-3 in the ninth on singles by Dick Tracowski, Wes Parker and Tommy Davis.

With the potential tying and winning runs on second and third, Baldschun struck out Dick Smith, issued an intentional walk to Ron Fairly, and ended it by getting Jeff Torborg to line out.

George Mikan Out of NBA's All-Time Top 10

Cliff Hagan and Richie Guerin Enter Select List

NEW YORK (AP) — George Mikan, the National Basketball Association's first authentic superstar, has dropped out of the league's all-time top 10 scorers' list, official NBA statistics revealed today.

Mikan, the Minneapolis Laker great, and Clyde Lovellette, who finished his career with the Boston Celtics after starring for Minneapolis and St. Louis, were replaced by Cliff Hagan and Richie Guerin, both of St. Louis.

Hagan moved into ninth place on the all-time list, running his total to 12,433 points for nine years. Guerin, who starred for the New York Knickerbockers before moving to the Hawks two years ago, took over 10th place with 12,236 for nine years.

All-Time Leader

The all-time leader is St. Louis' Bob Pettit, who retired following this season's playoffs. Pettit scored 20,880 points in 11 years and is the only NBA player ever to top 20,000 points.

Dolph Schayes, coach of the Philadelphia 76ers, is second on the all-time list with 19,249 points for 16 years. Wilt Chamberlain, traded this season from San Francisco to Philadelphia, moved from sixth place to third on the list with 18,837 for six years.

Bob Cousy, who retired last year after 13 seasons with the Boston Celtics, is fourth with 16,955, followed by Paul Arizin who played 10 seasons for the Philadelphia Warriors and scored 16,266.

Cincinnati's Jack Twyman and Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles are sixth and seventh. Twyman has 15,297 in 10 seasons and Baylor 14,901 in seven. Bill Sharman, who starred with Cousy in the Boston backcourt for 11 years, is eighth with 12,655.

Evidence of a Winter kill by freeze-out was recently discovered on Bullhead Lake, near Brillion. The lake was still frozen over as late as a week ago and when ice melted hundreds of dead fish turned up, including over 100 muskie,

80-100 Dead Muskies

Bullhead Lake to be Checked For Result of Winter-Kill

Fishery headquarters officials are planning a net check of Bullhead Lake, near Brillion, to determine the extent of the winter freeze-out kill which has resulted in the loss of a big number of game fish including between 80 and 100 muskies in the 8 to 10-pound class.

Bullhead Lake was still frozen over about a week ago and when the ice did go out thousands of dead fish came to the surface.

Besides the muskies, the kill took many black bass, perch and bluegills. Some of the black bass were in the 3-pound class.

Fishery officials said that a work crew would be sent to the lake to use a seine to determine how many fish are left in the lake. This would enable them to tell how severe the winter kill was and whether the entire fish population was affected.

A few years ago Bullhead Lake became a muskie experiment and it was expected that this summer would provide some excellent fishing as many of the fish were beyond the legal size limit of 30 inches.

Rep. Reuss Urges Expansion Of Majors to Three Leagues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., urged in a House speech Monday that major league baseball be expanded by four teams for the 1966 season through the formation of three leagues of eight teams each.

"Fans who like to root for the home team could not forget that next year their Braves would be playing in Atlanta, not Milwaukee," Reuss said in praising the turnout of 33,874 fans for the Braves' home opener.

"The opening day crowd this year should remind baseball's fans and owners of the many other crowds that packed Milwaukee County Stadium to build a 12-year average annual attendance of 1,583,027—a figure surpassed by only one other National League club," Reuss said.

The Milwaukee representative cannot justify their abandonment of the loyal fans in Milwaukee."

He said that "baseball has promised to operate in the public interest. Let it now fulfill that pledge. Let the owners also agree upon greater sharing of television revenues to equalize competition and to wipe out incentive for clubs to engage in profit-seeking city-hopping."

John McGuire to Return to Coach St. Catherine '5'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — John McGuire, basketball coach at Cudahy High School in the past season, resigned Monday night to return to Racine's St. Catherine High School where he had coached for 11 years until 1964.

McGuire, 39, will take over as athletic director and cage coach at St. Catherine and also will serve in the guidance department. The latter position was the major factor in his decision, according to McGuire, who has been working on a master's degree in guidance.

His Racine teams won 239 games and lost 77, and three times won the state Catholic high school championship. Cudahy had a 7-13 record under McGuire last season.

Celtics' Future Not in Danger By Eye Injury

Russell Ordered to Rest, but Will Return Next Year

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell's basketball future has not been endangered by an accidental poke in the eye.

The Celtics center says he will play at least one more season and predicts, "We stand an excellent chance of keeping the title."

The center who has led Boston to eight National Basketball Association championships in nine years and was injured when the Celtics missed the top prize in 1958 has been ordered to rest.

Dr. Baruch Sachs prescribed the precautionary inactivity so that Russell's right eye can be observed and hemorrhaging will not resume back of the eye. The injury occurred in the second quarter of the 129-96 title game triumph over Los Angeles Sunday.

Remain At Home

Russell must remain at home and cannot participate in the downtown motorcade honoring the team today or tonight's annual dinner labeled the Celtics' "breakup" — a word they allow themselves, but a deed NBA rivals have failed to accomplish in seven years.

Russell says he can't tell how much longer he'll play pro ball but adds: "I'm coming back next year. As far as my eye is concerned, I have no fear that there is anything permanently wrong with it."

Russell calls the current Celtics "the greatest team we've ever had."

Russell is quick to absolve Laker Jerry West from blame for the eye incident Sunday but admits afterward, "I couldn't see."

"All basketball pros fear loss of an eye," Russell says. "I'd darned near happened to Oscar Robertson this year and sooner or later I'm afraid it will happen."

"We all try to watch our hands. It is one thing to win a game and quite another to hurt somebody."

My vision straightened out after awhile.

"Certainly, I wasn't going to come out of that game. Usually I try to pace myself a little. I mean, 48 minutes is a long time. But I figured this was the one to go all the way on."

"Sure, we were tired. It's a long season. The Lakers were tired, too. But you don't think about that with the championship at stake."

New Career for Combat Veteran

Maryland Frosh '9' Has 40-Year-Old Player

BY GORDON BEARD

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) School teaching career while — Bill Flynn, a combat veteran Bill goes to college, and who is of World War II and 40-year-old expecting in June, didn't object. "After laying off from baseball for about three years, I had trouble getting into shape," Flynn said, "and the day after a left-handed batter, has collected four hits in 12 tries for the frosh while playing first or second base. He also helps direct the squad when Coach Whitey Stevens goes on the road with the varsity.

"I plan to play ball while going to summer school," Flynn said, "so I'll be able to stay in shape. If everything goes all right, I hope to try out for the varsity next year."

Sherman's Giants to Have New Look During 1966 Grid Campaign

New York Coach Optimistic About Future NFL Success

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Y. A. Title is gone. Frank Gifford, Andy Robustelli and Jack Brourd have retired. Don Chandler is in Green Bay. The old New York Giants who ruled the East from 1961 through 1963 are scattered to the far winds.

Allie Sherman is trying to pick up the pieces. After a long, dark winter spent watching endless films of 1965 Giant games, Sherman is surprisingly optimistic.

"For the first time in 16 years we don't have a Daddy at quarterback, a true quarterback figure," said Sherman. "Gary Wood is our most experienced man. But he and Henry Schlichtle, our other holdover, are going to have to get used to a new concept of offense."

"We have seen our new quarterbacks, Bob Timberlake of Michigan and John Torok of Arizona State either in person or in films. Next week we will have them in to acquire a working knowledge of our formations and nomenclature."

Not Stand-Up Type
"Our quarterbacks are not the classic stand-up type like Johnny Unitas and Title. Obviously they don't throw like them either. But they all have good mobility. We expect to move them around more. Not like Frank Tarkenton who has tamed down some, but much more than we have been accustomed to in Title."

"We are going to work on what we can do best. We are not overlooking Torok who hasn't had so much publicity as some of the others. He missed three games and still finished second in total offense."

But Sherman really warms up when he gets around to talking about his running backs.
"Our two new men of last year — Steve Thurlow and Ernie Wheelwright — and our new big men — Tucker Frederickson, Jim Arts' 575 and Chuck Du-and Ernie Koy — are all about the same type in running style. They run about 6-foot-2 and average around 220 plus.

"There is something else about Koy. They tell me he is a good quick kicker. That is something you haven't seen in the pros for a long time."

Sherman thinks his offensive and defensive lines and his line-backers are solid, but admits the secondary needs a little help.

Changes in Defense
"We probably will make some changes in our defense, too," he said. "We have been strong on man-for-man but now we may have enough speed to try a little more zone."

Sherman lists Henry Carr, the Olympic sprint champ, Willie Williams, Carl Lockhart and Ben Crenshaw as rookie backs with high potential.

"It's like any business," said Sherman. "Our inventory has changed a little. But that's all part of the job. We have three proven parts — our two lines and our line-backers. It all depends on our offensive back-field."

"Don't get the idea because we talk about running that we are going to depreciate our passing. We are going to throw the ball. You have to pass. Even Green Bay does with their great power."

"Last year we were a two-quarter back club. When you get where you can sustain your game longer and stay in their until the end of the third quarter, anything can happen. That is what happened to Philadelphia and Washington last year."

"I'm making no great claims, no prediction. But we'll be a scratchy, clawing ball club."

Thyssen's Wins Title In Little Chute Loop

Thyssen's Beefs nosed out Art and Sally's Bar, 2,711 to 2,620, when he gets around to talking about his running backs.

Steels Lead Market Rally

Indexes Show Substantial Gains In Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were pacemakers in a rallying stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Extension of the steel strike deadline was the tonic which cheered Wall Street and especially those interested in buying steel stocks.

The steels ran up gains of a point or more on a broad front. Other groups such as autos, rubbers, rails, coppers, airlines, chemicals, electronics and electrical equipments followed.

Oils were irregular. Cigarettes declined on news that R. J. Reynolds Tobacco, the nation's largest manufacturer of cigarettes, does not plan to follow the lead of four major cigarette makers by boosting prices.

All the popular averages moved well into new high ground.

The Associated Press average of 80 stocks at noon was up 1.5 to 340.3 with industrials up 2.5, rails up .3 and utilities up .9.
The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.05 at 920.91 trimming a gain of 5.05 at 11 a.m. EDT.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index also rose substantially. Gains of a point or better were made by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Jones & Laughlin and Lukens. National and Crucible Steel rose nearly a point.

Prices advanced in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Lawrence Says Rusk Speech Hits Critics of Viet Nam War Points Out Need For Maintaining American Policy

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration has been worried about the erroneous and misleading impression that has been conveyed by various critics inside and outside of Congress concerning America's position in the Viet Nam war. The picture of alleged disarray here and a feeling that, if the war is prolonged, the United States will be unable to maintain its integrity of government has said that it will negotiate peace not from weakness but from strength, and that attack. It is true that we also it will enter into discussions believe that every small state without insisting on any previous conditions But the Communist side has been led to believe that, if the harassment of South Viet Nam continues indefinitely, American public opinion will swing toward a negotiated peace of virtual surrender. The latest exposition of policy to the contrary by the United States has just been made by Secretary of State Dean Rusk in a truly great speech delivered before the American Society of International Law. It sets forth in unmistakable language the resolute purposes of the United States and points out in no uncertain terms the fundamental conviction here that the outcome of the Viet Nam war is directly related to the future safety of the United States. Mr. Rusk said in part:

"I continue to hear and see nonsense about the nature of the struggle there. I sometimes wonder at the gullibility of educated men and the stubborn disregard of plain facts by men who are supposed to be helping our young to learn — especially to learn how to think."

"Let us be clear about what is involved today in Southeast Asia. We are not involved with empty phrases or conceptions which ride upon the clouds. We are talking about the vital national interests of the United States in the peace of the Pacific. We are talking about the appetite for aggression — an appetite which grows upon and a feeling that, if the war is prolonged, the United States will be unable to maintain its integrity of government has said that it will negotiate peace not from weakness but from strength, and that attack. ABOARD THE USS RICKETTS IN THE MEDITERRANEAN (AP) — "A sailor is a sailor no matter what country he comes from." This is the general attitude aboard the U.S. Navy's destroyer er Claude Ricketts, demonstrating the multinational mixed-manning concept in which men from six nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization serve as crew. From officers down to enlisted men, life aboard the Ricketts has a special meaning. "I'm learning a few words of different languages," said seaman Louis Langnehs, Louisville, Ky. "It took a while to get used to the idea of serving next to guys who came from Germany, Greece, Holland, Italy and Britain, but we all work together like a team."

The captain issued orders and the two men performed in harmony. During a recent battle alert, the foreign nationals performed flawlessly. The ship's weapons system was in the hands of an Italian officer; the missiles in control of a German officer, and a Greek officer directed fire control. Ship's communications were in the hands of American naval officers. Before the foreign nationals reported for duty, many took special training courses in their native countries and in American schools, ranging from a few days to four months.

Multilateral Force
Mixed-manning of the Ricketts is one phase of the universal multilateral force concept posed by President John F. Kennedy. The Ricketts, a modern destroyer, is part of the Navy's 6th Fleet patrolling the Mediterranean. "But underlying the general principles is the harsh reality that our own security is threatened by those who would embark upon a course of aggression whose announced ultimate purpose is our own destruction. "Once again we hear expressed the views which cost the men of my generation a terrible price in World War II. We are told that Southeast Asia is far away — but so were Manchuria and Ethiopia. We are told that if we insist that someone stop shooting that that is asking them for unconditional surrender. We are told that perhaps the aggressor will be content with just one more bite. We are told that if we prove faithless on one commitment that per- haps others would believe us about other commitments in other places. Mr. Rusk took advantage of the opportunity to discuss the basic principles of international law and the proper and improper use of force. But he pointed out that there was no barrier in law against the right of a people to defend themselves from domination by outside powers. His remarks were directed not only to critics in this country but to those in various so-called "nonaligned" nations which keep accusing America of aggression and colonialism while blinking at the unjustified use of

against tiny impurities in gasoline

(before they get to your tank!)

Most gasolines are clean when they leave the refinery. But on the way to your car—in transit and in storage—they pick up impurities that could choke off power, reduce engine efficiency...could even stop you cold. Automotive engineers asked for an answer to this problem—American Oil Research developed the American FINAL/FILTER. It guards against tiny impurities (present in all gasolines) right at the pump nozzle. If you depend on your car for your livelihood (and even if you don't) it pays to "fill 'er up filtered" with American, Regular or American, Super-Premium.

You expect more from Standard and you get it!

Marines Prepared To Finish Any Job, Commandant Says

Leathernecks Patrolling An Ever-Widening Area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps said today his leathernecks "are prepared to take any steps necessary" to get their job done in Viet Nam. Gen. Wallace W. Greene Jr. said on his arrival at Saigon Airport that while the U.S. Marine role in Viet Nam depends on what the other side may do, "we certainly will not sit on our rear ends and do nothing."

"We are here to do a job and we will do it."

Definite Assignment

Greene said the Marines had a definite assignment "to insure security of the Da Nang area." There are about 8,000 Marines ashore around the big U.S. and Vietnamese air base at Da

Nang, where many of the air strikes against Communist North Viet Nam originate, and the Hue-Phu Bai area 40 miles from Da Nang.

Marine patrols pushing out from Da Nang in an increasingly wide arc have been coming into contact with Viet Cong guerrilla units. There has been speculation that such activity may herald the start of full-scale combat operations by the leathernecks to hit the Viet Cong before they could close in on the base.

Asked by a newsmen if he foresaw the sending of more Marines to Viet Nam, Greene answered "We will do what is required."

Special Envoy

Britain's special envoy to Southeast Asia Patrick Gordon Walker, said in Hong Kong that he believes the Communist Viet Cong are being beaten in South Viet Nam.

"I think there has been a considerable change for the better in the fight against the Viet Cong," Gordon Walker told newsmen while en route from Saigon to Tokyo.

"The battle against the Viet Cong is going a lot better than in the past. I believe the Viet Cong are being beaten."

"The morale of the (South) Vietnamese has greatly improved as the result of the U.S. bombing of North Vietnamese military installations and they are fighting better."

Long Fight

But he added: "The fight against the Communist Viet Cong in the south will probably continue for some time."

In London, the British government endorsed a Soviet proposal for an international conference on Cambodia which the British think would provide an opportunity for informal peace talks on Viet Nam. But the move seemed doomed to failure.

Informed sources said the Cambodian government advised the British that Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, wants neither the United States nor the South Vietnamese to attend.

U. S. Viet Nam Policy

Soviet Criticism Cited as Baseless

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson accused the Soviet Union Monday night of baseless attacks on U.S. policy in Viet Nam which he said virtually torpedoed any chance for a meaningful disarmament debate in the United Nations.

Stevenson told the 114-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission that in a speech lasting 53 minutes, Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko devoted only 36 seconds to disarmament.

"If this day's work is what the Soviet Union had in mind when it called this meeting, our worst fears would be confirmed that little will be accomplished here," Stevenson said.

Meeting Sought

The Soviet Union had asked for a meeting of the commission, on which all U.N. members have a seat, as a prelude to reconvening the 18-nation Disarmament Committee in Geneva.

Opening the public debate, Fedorenko delivered a blistering attack on U.S. foreign policy, particularly in Viet Nam.

He described the atom bombing of the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II as an experiment of the Pentagon. He said tests of new weapons were being contemplated in a Southeast Asian country — an obvious reference to Viet Nam.

Nuclear War

Fedorenko claimed that U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had made it clear at a news conference in Washington that he has "reserved the right to unleash nuclear war in Viet Nam."

The Soviet delegate said "this is fraught with serious consequences for mankind."

McNamara said at his news conference there was no military requirement for use of nuclear weapons in the present situation in Viet Nam and that no useful purpose could be served by speculation on remote

Deadline Delayed for Strike by Steel Union

Production Halt Viewed As Threat to Economy by Johnson Administration

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A four month steel strike reprieve was virtually certain today, lifting what the Johnson administration viewed as a disastrous threat to the nation's economy. Ratification by the United Steelworkers Union and 10 major steel firms is expected to be a mere formality Wednesday, swapping a postponement of Saturday's strike deadline for a pay raise of 11.5 cents an hour.

"This is a good day for the economy," said federal mediator William E. Simkin after union president David J. McDonald and chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper put their initials on the agreement.

The stock market promptly rallied, canceling earlier losses, when the agreement was reported Monday.

Price of Delay

McDonald emphasized the 11.5 cents is only the price the industry must pay for a strike delay and that the union still expects to win at last 17.9 cents an hour in wage gains.

Although the steel firms and the union's wage policy committee still must ratify the agreement, Simkin was so confident he planned to return to Washington today.

In exchange for the 11.5-cent

Tunisians Besiege Arab Embassies

TUNIS (AP) — Thousands of shouting, slogan-chanting Tunisians besieged four Arab embassies today in retaliation against anti-Tunisian demonstrations in the Middle East.

Police and guard units beat back the crowd around the Egyptian Embassy. One policeman was injured.

Cordons of police held the crowd at bay around the Syrian Embassy.

Then the crowds headed for the Iraqi and Jordanian embassies.

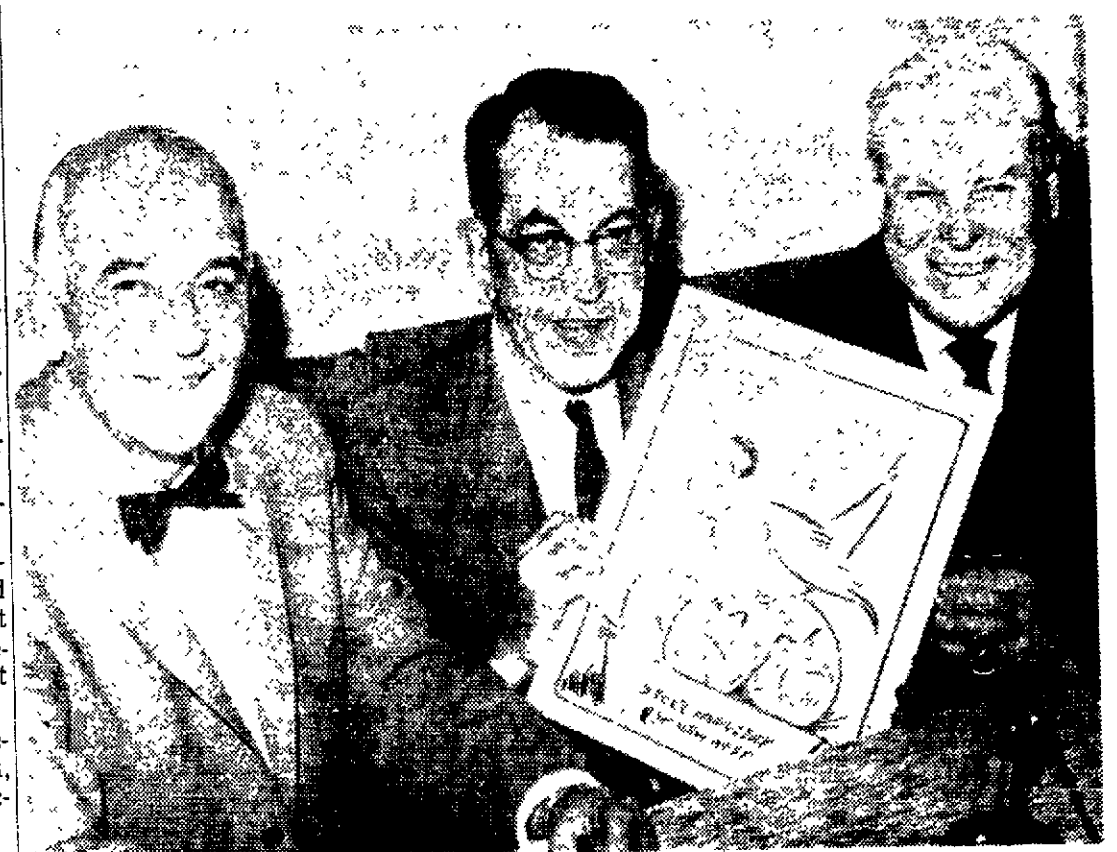

President Habib Bourguiba's moderate Israeli policy and his call for negotiations with Israel are at the root of the unrest, which has plunged Tunisia's relations with the Middle East Arab nations to a new low.

U. S. Court Backs Outagamie Petition

Ruling May Compel North Central To Provide Service at New Airport

North Central Airlines apparently is being compelled by the 7th District United States Circuit Court of Appeals to serve the Fox Cities at the new Outagamie County Airport.

A decision reached Monday afternoon by the court has left all parties involved in the Winnebago County-Outagamie County dispute over North Central service at a loss to explain exactly what it means.

When the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) learned that Outagamie County planned to close its old Town of Grand Chute opened the new airport and also kept the old airport open. At the same time, county officials filed a request with the federal court to overrule the CAB order until after it reaches a decision on appeals for the entire case.

Gerald P. O'Grady, Outagamie County's Washington legal counsel, and County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath prepared motions and Ponath delivered them to the court Monday morning at 11 a.m.

Judge Refuses to Discuss Decision

Judge Latham Castle of the 7th District United States Circuit Court of Appeals was reached at noon today by the Post-Crescent, but refused to discuss Monday's court ruling on the North Central regional airport case.

"Ask to interpret the court ruling and to say what effect the ruling has, Judge Castle said, 'I refuse to discuss the case. The order speaks for itself.'"

Asked if a clarification of the order would be forthcoming, the judge said, "I repeat that I refuse to discuss the case."

5 Nations to be Included

Soviets, French Agree On Disarmament Talks

PARIS (AP) — The Soviet Diplomats in Paris believe Union agreed today to a French proposal to call a five-power conference on disarmament to include the world's atomic powers, reliable French sources reported.

The sources said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko agreed to the French proposal in his second series of talks with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

The French, who have never endorsed the Geneva disarmament conferences, long have supported the idea of a meeting of the world's five atomic powers on the problems of disarmament.

Atomic Nations Only

Such a conference would embrace the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Communist China and would exclude participation by nonatomic nations.

Gromyko emerged smiling from a 2½-hour meeting with Couve de Murville.

"We discussed today the problems relating to European security and especially concerning ways of regulating the German question. We also have discussed problems relating to the activities of the United Nations and certain questions on Franco-Russian relations," Gromyko declined to elaborate. French sources confirmed the Soviet visitor's description of the talks.

Test Pilot Dies As Experimental Plane Crashes

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An experimental vertical takeoff plane faltered in flight today then crashed and exploded in flames during a public demonstration witnessed by hundreds.

The chief engineering test pilot for Ryan Aeronautical Co. of San Diego, Lou Everett, tried to effect but went down with the craft and was killed.

The unusual looking plane took off vertically as planned in its first public hop. It maneuvered over this desert test center. Then, at about 800 feet, while the pilot was switching from conventional jet power to rocket thrust, it plunged straight down.

Negro Youth's Death Sparks Demonstration

Schoolmate Taken Into Custody for Shotgun Slaying

PARKESBURG, Pa. (AP) — Police said a white youth shot a Negro youth to death Monday, touching off a rock-throwing demonstration by Negroes in this southeastern Pennsylvania farming community.

An angry, jeering crowd of more than 100 children and adults alike threw rocks, smashing windows of a service station where the Negro youth was killed. There were no injuries and no arrests reported, although two unidentified white youths were taken into custody by police.

Police said Preston Ferguson, 16, was killed by a shotgun blast inside the Thomas Oil Co.

Taken into custody for the slaying was Theodore Houck, 15, a white youth, who attended Octorara High School with Ferguson, and works at the station.

Negroes started gathering outside the station about three hours after Ferguson was shot, hurling rocks and bricks at windows and at trucks parked nearby. Some Negroes tossed broken bottles at another station and a small group entered a restaurant, where they demanded, and got service. Police said the owner acknowledged he had never served Negroes there before.

Police said other Negroes, driving to the area from surrounding communities, roamed through this rural community of 2,500 in cars.

Authorities from surrounding towns arrived to reinforce the local force.

Ferguson had gone into the service station late in the afternoon and got into an argument with Houck, police said. A shotgun blast into Ferguson's stomach killed him. Houck was arrested and held at the juvenile home in nearby West Chester.

Johnson to Hold TV Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — All of the major radio and television networks planned live coverage today of President Johnson's 3 p.m. CDT news conference in the East Room of the White House.

NBC, ABC and CBS said they would carry the news conference live on both radio and television. The Mutual Broadcasting System said it would broadcast the conference live over its radio network.

Johnson announced more than a month ago he would hold news conferences announced in advance about once a month. This is the first such conference since them.

Committee Tendency to Abbreviate Bill Hearings May Bring Protests

JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — A tendency of some legislative standing committees to abbreviate hearings may bring some resentful protests from individuals and organizations.

The practices of the various committees which hear testimony on pending legislation according to published schedules vary according to the temperaments of their chairmen. Some of them are tolerant and patient. Others are plainly discomfited when the arguments run into the late afternoon hours and tend to warn witnesses to be brief. Sometimes they come close to discouraging them from completing the arguments they travelled long distances to the capitol to deliver.

One reason for the crowded hearing calendars and the rationing of discussion time is the reluctance of the average committee to devote more than one afternoon each week to public hearings on bills, regardless of the numbers referred to them. In some instances, however, it is clear to the naked eye that the committees obtain far less than a complete understanding of the issues upon which they recommend action for their houses, and expect their recommendations to be followed.

An easy method of remembering the several election dates for the members of the state supreme court is observing the public speaking activities of the members.

Through a kind of gentleman's agreement, the requests for appearance that come to members of court are routed to the desk of the man who must run for re-election next. Thus Justice Thomas E. Fairchild is moving about the state more frequently now. He will be a candidate for a new term on the state ballot next April.

One of the major recommendations of an interim committee charged with revision and improvement of the election machinery of Wisconsin asks for legislation to require the registration of voters in all communities with a population of more than 1,000. But the reception of the proposition is doubtful. The Wisconsin assembly in a big vote has already rejected a more modest proposal for registration in all towns of 2,500 and over. The present law does not require registration machinery until a community reaches 5,000.

Some observers have been surprised at the remarkable discipline of the Democratic majority of the state assembly on party matters, or on general subjects which the house Democratic leadership believes touch upon platform principles or prospective campaign issues.

One unpublicized reason for the unified behavior of the Democratic membership is the agreement between Speaker Robert Huber and Majority Leader Frank Nikolay of Clark County on the division of labor involved. Huber under the agreement is responsible for keeping in line the big Milwaukee county delegation. Nikolay is charged with persuading the out-state Democrats to toe the line regularly.

Huber is especially effective with the Milwaukee delegation and one of the reasons may be his generous allocation of leadership positions to his colleagues from the city. Milwaukee assemblymen have more committee chairmanships today than in any legislative session within memory.

State educational officials have carefully sidetracked the question of who will run the two new four-year higher education institutions that have been proposed in pending legislation. But as the average member of the legislature discusses the enabling legislation—which appears to be picking up strength—he generally assumes that they will be branches of the University of Wisconsin.

The board of regents of state colleges, running the state university system, announced more than a year ago that it regards itself as the proper directing authority. But it now appears unlikely that its bid will be successful. The most active of the sponsors of the bill for new schools in the Fox Valley and southeastern Wisconsin areas, moreover, privately hope that the University of Wisconsin will be chosen to run the new institutions after they are authorized.

Legislators are becoming restive about the slow progress of the legislature's joint finance committee in reviewing the Gov. Knowles budget bill. Many other bills are being delayed while the central issue of budget commitments and tax requirements is being evolved. Leaders of the committee have yet made no promises, moreover, about the time that they will present the revised bill for legislative action. It will require another fortnight, at the very least.

Republican organization men are quietly scouting the field of possibilities for the party's nomination for attorney general next year.

They are surveying the field with the realistic acceptance of the fact that Democratic Attorney General Bronson LaFollette, who piled up a huge margin of victory in his first state-wide campaign experience last fall, will be a formidable contender.

Assemblyman Haase of Marinette, Republican leader in the state assembly, has turned down overtures that he consider a run. Among others mentioned is Sen. Jerris Leonard of Bayside, whose friends report that he has concluded that the time has come to rise in the political system, or to retire to his promising law practice in Milwaukee. Leonard has also been boosted for lieutenant governor, but most party men feel he would not be able to defeat Jack Olson, the former lieutenant governor, for a convention endorsement or for a nomination in the open primary.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After two and a half years, Johnson finished building an airplane in the basement garage of his San Francisco residence.

"I bought a set of plans. Then I just started out and built her," Johnson told neighbors as he pushed the bright red craft into his driveway.

The entire plane, except for the 125-horsepower engine, is homemade, he said. It has a 27-foot wingspan and is 19 feet long.

Now he has to figure out what Johnson does not know how to fly.

Fox Plans Unit Will Discuss Open-Space Aid

Policy Committee to Consider Guidelines For Federal Program

Guidelines to assist member municipalities to qualify for grants under the federal government's open-space program will be considered at a meeting of the Fox Valley Planning Commission policy committee May 5.

Committee members received notice of the meeting Monday from Gene Franchetti, commission director.

The committee will be asked to formulate a recommendation to the board of directors which would lay the groundwork for the municipalities comprising the Fox Valley unit to prepare a list of long-range park and recreation improvements.

The purpose of the government's open-space agreement is to have regions coordinate planning and acquisition of lands needed for public developments. Municipalities that follow prescribed procedure can receive from 20 to 30 per cent federal aid toward land acquisition costs.

However, they must agree to: —Prepare and adopt a long range open-space plan as part of a municipal development plan.

—Submit to the regional planning commission each open-space land acquisition proposal for review and report.

Franchetti explained that in order for this region to qualify under the federal program, 60 per cent of the commission members must okay the agreement.

The grants would be available for neighborhood playground or regional parks.

It was emphasized, however, that regional significance is not a requirement. Open-space proposals of local governments must merely be in conformance with the local development plan inventoried through the regional commission.

School Bond Action Expected At Stockbridge

STOCKBRIDGE—A resolution to bond the school district $200,000 for school expansion is expected to be adopted by the school board when it meets Thursday night.

Outagamie Officials Briefed On Jones Park Development

Appleton's Residential Plans for Old County Airport Discussed

Outagamie County officials, concerned with future property needs for county services, today were briefed on City of Appleton plans for development in the Jones Park area and for plans for the residential development of the old county airport site.

Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer said the intention of the meeting with city officials and civic leaders was to determine if the proposed developments would be sufficient for county needs, or if the county should consider "saving" the old airport site for possible expansion of county needs.

At the meeting were chamber of commerce officials, Mayor Clarence Mitchell, Donald Hassler, city finance officer; Walter Rasmussen, city planner; Fred Froehlich, the city attorney, and a representative of the Fox River Valley Regional Planning Commission.

Rasmussen outlined for the members of the county's executive committee the proposal to develop Jones Park at the foot of N. Superior Street to include

Paper Making Patents Given Firms in Area

Rights Assigned to Combined Locks, Wire Works Concern

Two patents in the paper making field have been assigned to area firms. A patent titled "Roller Apparatus for Coating Paper Web" by Gerald D. Muggleton of Appleton has been assigned to the Combined Locks Paper Co.

John L. Vlossak of Appleton and Martin A. Golden, Green Bay, are the recipients of a patent "Chromium Coated Papermaking Wire" which has been 100 per cent acquired by Appleton Wire Works.

The Vlossak-Golden invention is a papermaking wire which has a coating of chromium so applied that the surfaces of the wire subjected to wear have a thicker and harder chromium coating than the remaining surfaces.

Uniform Quality

In the operation of the Fourdrinier papermaking machine, paper of good uniform quality can be produced efficiently only if the wire fabric upon which the paper fibers are deposited is smooth and uniform. Sliding of the wire fabric over parts of the papermaking apparatus causes wear.

The inventors claim the chromium coated wire retains a smooth surface throughout its use and has high resistance to abrasion and corrosion. It is claimed to have a useful life at least one and a half times that of conventional wire.

Muggleton's invention is a smoothing roll of relatively small diameter used in coating paper. It forces the high areas of the coating into the low areas to produce a uniformly smooth coated surface which is commercially acceptable.

St. Augustine Pupils Win Prizes in Essay Contest at Chilton

Other winners were Susan Dorn, St. Charles School, Charlesburg, second place; Gail Goesser, St. Mary School, Stockbridge, third place, and Kenneth Kuehl, Holy Trinity School, Jericho, fourth place.

Winners of their respective schools were Paula Mauthe, St. Mary, Hilbert; Michael Gudex, St. Martin, Charlestown; Kristine Euclide, St. Augustine, Chilton; Douglas Petrie, Sacred Heart, Sherwood, and Gertrude Miller, St. Mary, Brillion.

Ninety-six pupils participated in the county-wide contest sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. Fifth through eighth grade pupils were eligible. School winners received plaques for their schools.

Heart Disease Takes 11 Lives During March

Heart disease was the major killer in Appleton during March with 11 deaths attributed to it, the health department reported today.

Dr. James Laird, city health commissioner, also noted that cancer caused five deaths and pneumonia, four.

In the communicable disease department, there was a spurt in the incidence of chicken pox with 63 cases reported to the health department.

Dr. Laird said the usual amount of mumps and measles for this time of the year was recorded.

Births at Appleton's two hospitals totaled 179, including 84 city and 95 non-resident.

Health department records show there were six illegitimate births, four of them non-resident.

A set of twins — girls — also was born. There were 32 deaths and 33 marriages reported to health authorities.

Officials Discuss Community Lakes

New Black Creek Project Seen as Pioneer Innovation

Planning and construction of water purity, and guide lines, water and swimming safety measures for community recreational lakes which are growing in popularity in the Outagamie County area were given attention during an on-site tour of Black Creek and Seymour and a conference of community, county, Wolf River Planning Commission and State Board Health officials Friday.

In July of 1964 Black Creek began a pioneer recreation on Seymour's lake plan, preparation when it opened for public use a four acre lake, which adjoins its village park. After years of wishing and hoping, Edward Shaw, Postmaster, who at the time was leader of the Black Creek Advance-ment Association, brought the matter to the attention of the Wolf River Planning Commission.

The Soil Conservation Service under the direction of the soil and water district supervisors, designed a plan. A total of $2,500.00 was received from the state ASCC committee, the balance financed locally. Eight months after the decision was made to go ahead, the lake was completed and ready for use.

Project Planned

Several thousand persons used the lake each weekend. This year the Outagamie Conservation Club, the City of Seymour and Village of Bonduel are proceeding with similar natural lake projects.

The joint conference was held that the users of the new lake facilities and the county and communities may be assured that all necessary steps are being taken to comply with state health and safety measures.

"This idea which originated in the Wolf River region is mushrooming to other parts of the state," Gordon Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Planning Commission said. "It is best that we be informed, and that what we do will meet state requirements" he added.

Harvey E. Wirth, assistant sanitary engineer of the state Board of Health said, "This development is so new that specific guide lines and standards have not been determined. The board of health does, however, have broad authority to cover the matter. If the supply of water is adequate for maintaining the minimum re-

Opinions of Residents Also Sought

NEW LONDON — A study of the New London School District and the opinions of its residents about buildings, transportation, operation and curriculum began Monday by a four-man staff of University of Wisconsin interviewers.

They will interview 20 teachers from the district. Supt. H. James Ramsdell and board of education members. Canvassing are Prof. Richard Rossmiller, John Thorsen, Don Carver and Marvin Fruh.

Thorsen said the residents chosen to be interviewed will be contacted later by members of the Wisconsin Research Laboratory.

Opinion Questions

Questions are designed to get opinions on various subjects, Thorsen said. Those asked teachers and board members will differ slightly from those asked district residents.

Reason for the difference is that the teachers and board

Former K-C Employee Takes Research Post

Forecasts End of State Governments

Only Radical Reforms Will Save System, Carley Tells Democrats

Waupaca County Democrats here Saturday night.

Carley, speaking at the county monthly party meeting, said the failure of many state governments to meet the "crises" problems of race relations, crime and poverty was only part of the reason for the shift toward greater national power in the state-federal government alignment.

Those citizens and political leaders who call for more state's rights have been the last to realize that, had they been in the forefront of the fight for more equitable apportionment of state legislatures and the U. S. Congress, their challenge would have been far more believable, according to Carley.

Steps to Take Immediate steps the state governments should take if they are to survive as an instrument of public policy, Carley said, are:

—State governments must meet the legislative and revenue needs of our metropolitan areas rather than viewing them as threats to their own power.

—Educational, welfare and health needs must become as much the concern of state government as they have of the national government.

—The "crises" problems of race relations, crime, poverty and unemployment must not be allowed to become the domain solely of the national government, but be met by imaginative and creative activity at the state level.

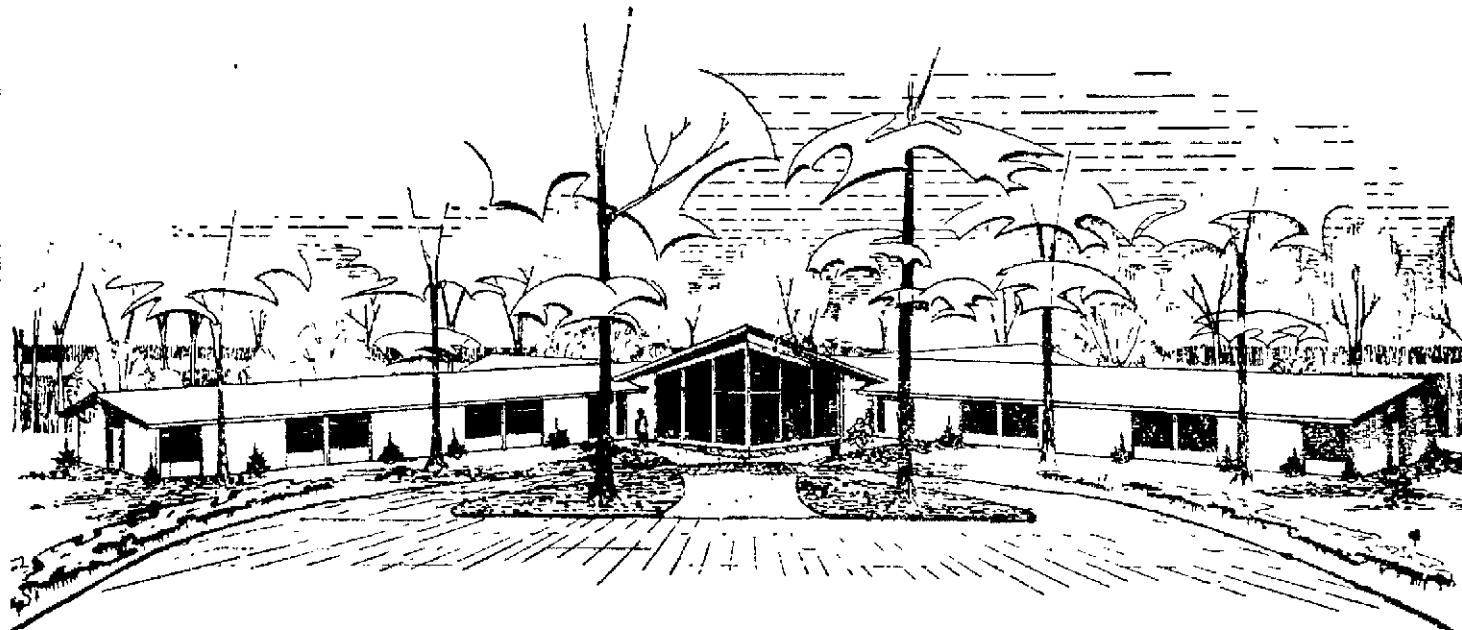

"For the first time in six years we do not have a governor in the state office," he said. "Government is the only thing in the world that can resolve critical problems facing us day-to-day," Carley stated, "and I believe the Democrat party does this most effectively."

County Chairman Del Beno said the county had set a goal of 1,000 members in an attempt to end the one-party rule in Waupaca County.

Max Bassewitz, New London attorney, was named legal adviser for the county unit, replacing Ed Macklin, New London, who will be leaving the area soon.

Architect's Drawing of "The Appletonian" Nursing Home

100-Bed Facility Started

Appleton Nursing Home Building Starts

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Ground was broken this morning on Appleton's far southeast side for the first construction phase of a multi-million dollar senior citizen nursing home.

The 100-bed facility is the first of two in the Fox Cities being built by the Como Corp., a St. Paul, Minn., holding company, which has been specializing in building and operating nursing homes for the past three years.

Kenneth Mueller, St. Paul, a representative of the corporation, was in Appleton Monday and made final arrangements for excavation work. He also completed plans for erecting a 100-bed home in Neenah with colonial style construction.

Fox Valley Service

"We selected the Fox Cities for the two new facilities after conducting an intensive survey," Mueller said. "The nursing homes are being built to serve the entire Fox Valley area."

General contractor for the Appleton project is Hagman Construction Co., of Minneapolis proposed expressway route along the city's southside, making it apparent the city will be expanded to include a grow more rapidly in that area," Mueller added.

The proposed clinic and residential bungalows for senior citizens, is being built in the Colony Oaks Subdivision on Newberry and Briarcliff roads.

Mueller said the home here, to be of contemporary design, will be finished in five months and ready for occupancy. The building alone will cost an estimated $750,000.

Permit Issued

Plans for the ranch-type structure, which will be predominantly brick, have been approved by the Appleton building inspector, State Board of Health and the Wisconsin Industrial Commission. The building permit was issued Monday.

"We picked the southeast side because it is centrally located among the Appleton Memorial, St. Elizabeth and Kaukauna Memorial hospitals," Mueller said.

There also will be a nurses' drug room for distribution of prescriptions prescribed by patients' doctors.

Drug Store, Clinic

The future medical clinic and drugstore will be located on the corner of Newberry Road and Kingston Street, Mueller said.

Medically prescribed programs such as rehabilitative nursing occupational therapy, physical therapy and planned activity

The home will house 100 guests. It will contain private assist. and two-bed bedrooms, large home residents to participate in sitting rooms, wheel-in-type activities that will enable them to become as self-sufficient as possible, Mueller explained.

He emphasized residents will be under the medical care of a physician and his own choice. The nursing home will be non-denominational. Mueller estimated the home will employ about 50 persons including nurses, aides and maintenance personnel. He said the payroll would range from $100,000 to $150,000 a year.

Registration for Kindergarten Set at Readfield, Sugar Bush

NEW LONDON — Registration for kindergarten will be completed in the New London District this week with sessions at the Readfield School Wednesday and the Sugar Bush School Thursday.

The first session was held at the Lincoln School last week. Registration will be from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m.

Children must be five years old by Oct. 1 to be eligible for enrollment. The child's birth or baptismal certificate must be presented at the time of registration. Immunization and other health data should be brought at the time so that health records can be filled out.

Mrs. Mona Wells, elementary supervisor, said it is not necessary for the child to accompany the parent since the school is planning to have a visiting day sometime in May for all children who have registered.

Controls on Shoreland Use Gains Legislative Support

Bill Proposed for Protecting Recreational Water Values

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Legislation that may pave the way for effective local controls to protect recreational water values in rural Wisconsin has been given a substantial push in the legislature.

The Legislative Council has endorsed a bill brought in by an interim legislative study committee which asks for special zoning powers for counties that would permit land use controls on river and lake shorelands without veto power by town governments.

Existing city, village and town powers to impose such regulations on plating and other development on shorelands would be retained. The new legislation is intended, sponsors said, to fill the vacuum in the vast areas of rural Wisconsin and especially in the water-rich upper half of the state where control legislation has not yet been provided. The measure would give optional powers to county boards, but also provide some persuasion and prodding from the state government.

Interim Committee

The measure was drafted by an interim committee headed by Assemblyman Paul R. Alton, representative of Vilas County where there is powerful support for such a county zoning law, with the assistance of University of Wisconsin specialists and state officials concerned about water uses and abuses.

It provides for the creation of a division of waters within the state department of resource development, which would be charged, among other duties, with developing standards for such local shoreline use regulations and would have some grant-in-aid money to offer to cooperating county boards.

The zoning controls, if enacted by counties, could control shoreland use within 300 feet back from any stream, and 1,000 feet inland from any lake. The committee told the Legislature "is founded upon a genuine need for reasonable control of water quality through local shorelands use regulation. The need will become progressively imperative, since available water resources cannot be expanded or multiplied to fit their ever-growing population. The same limitation applies to shore-

Prevent Pollution

The principal objective of such controls would be prevention of lake and stream pollution through the uncontrolled exploitation of shorelands for residential or other uses.

The measure would also encourage joint administration of shoreland regulation by counties, cities and villages.

Many counties now have general land use zoning ordinances, including some in the northern districts. But one of the weaknesses of those ordinances is that they are effective only in those towns where the town boards have explicitly ratified them. The study committee found that in water protection problems the county is a more logical regulatory authority than the town, because down-stream control efforts are often negated by the lack of controls up-stream, or by activities in another town jurisdiction on a large body of water.

Control Needed

Subdivision control on shorelands is often needed to prevent undue crowding of shoreland users, or other over-extension of uses that result in "uncontrolled water contamination", the investigating committee said.

The new state waters division chief to be authorized in the legislation would prepare comprehensive plans based on a use classification of navigable waters everywhere in the state to be used as a guide for counties and other local governments.

His recommendations would serve as a guide for the legislative controls, according to the new state legislative proposal.

McNamara on Viet Nam

Any hopes — or worries — that our air strikes against North Viet Nam would be called off in the near future were quickly dispelled by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara at his televised news conference Monday.

The major reason for the conference appeared to be to emphasize with factual statistics that some of the criticism of our Vietnamese policies, particularly by Americans, is not valid. McNamara stressed several points as to why the strikes will continue and as to the progress of the war. The Communist Viet Cong in the south are definitely supplied from North Viet Nam: this is essentially a South Vietnamese war to win; and this is the type of "war of liberation" which former Premier Khrushchev described as the best way for Communists to spread their doctrine around the world.

Critics of our policies in Viet Nam have insisted that the war was really between two different South Vietnamese efforts to control the government and that the Viet Cong were really being supplied by the South Vietnamese either through defeat or a black market in weapons. McNamara cited recent captures of North Vietnamese troops fighting in the south to dispel the first opinion and the capture of weapons to show up the second.

The North Vietnamese have a regiment of their own fighting in the south, he said, and this indicates that they are running out of recruits from the south to train and send back as members of the Viet Cong. Weapons captured have proved that about 90 per cent of small arms and almost 100 per cent of large weapons are of Communist manufacture, especially from Red China. The Viet Cong, said McNamara, have lost some 39,000 men killed in the last five years. He intimated that if the air strikes hurt the north enough, the south will have the opportunity completely to defeat the Viet Cong.

McNamara also emphasized that American assistance is primarily in the air strikes and in sea efforts to prevent the landing of troops and arms. He sought to minimize our land activities, referring always to our troops as "advisors" or as "logistical support." But he at least once again pointed out that this would be a long, bitter struggle.

Presumably the determination expressed is also aimed at influencing any quiet maneuvers now going on to try to find grounds for a settlement. There has been concern expressed that the criticism of our policies in Viet Nam play into the hands of our enemies and give them aid and comfort and the hope that the United States will give up the battle and go home. McNamara made it clear that, whether this is called "McNamara's War" or not, there is no intention of quitting until the North Vietnamese realize they cannot win. And although he said here were no plans to use nuclear weapons of any sort — the situation does not call for them — there were no promises made or future restrictions estimated as to our involvement on land as well as in the air.

The aim of our government, entirely aside from saving South Viet Nam, seems to be to convince the Communists that not only nuclear war and large scale conventional war are useless against us, but that the "war of liberation," communist infiltration and agitation in the small and politically shaky countries, is also doomed to failure against the free world. Given this point of view — and assuming that McNamara's facts and conclusions are right — we do not dare get out of Viet Nam. But we hope McNamara's latest statements to the American public are sounder predictions than some of his former ones have been.

The State Excise Revenues

Again in Madison there is an undercurrent of controversy about the legitimate level for the state taxation of beer. Gov. Knowles has tossed into his kit of possible revenue sources as submitted to the politically divided legislature a proposal for a modest increase in the present level of taxation of that famous and popular product of Wisconsin. Some of the professed spokesmen for "liberal" causes are forever berating the legislature for what they claim is its improper attention to the arguments of the "beer lobby," from which we deduce that they want a somewhat heavier tax schedule on beer although they have very little sympathy for the rest of the governor's revenue suggestions.

Given an option, it may be supposed that most persons would say that all taxes are now too high, and that the ideal legislature would find a way to relieve the pressure of their exactions, instead of biennially struggling to invent new levies or to make the old taxes even more productive of public treasury dollars.

Yet a perusal of the State Department of Taxation's highly illuminating annual report reminds us that long before the words "sales tax" were acceptable in polite Wisconsin political company, the state was levying regularly what are known among the economists as "excises" or "special sales taxes." And among them Wisconsin has historically relied upon beer taxes, among others.

Moreover, this document shows us that the legislature has been notably reluctant or cautious about imposing taxes on beer, as against other popular products including wines and liquors, cigarettes, and even margarine.

During the early years of renewed taxation of beer and liquor after the repeal of the prohibition laws, the beer revenues of the state treasury were in fact higher and more important as a ratio of aggregate state income than were the liquor levies. Until about a decade ago, in fact, there was collected by the state about one dollar of beer taxes for four dollars of liquor tax income. Lately the ratio has been changed. The most recent account shows that the beer tax represents a smaller ratio of the liquor tax, and only about one tenth of the total yielded by levies upon cigarette users. While the legislature has repeatedly raised the taxes on liquor and tobacco, the beer excise has remained unchanged. It is perhaps the only tax in the family of state treasury revenues about which there has been any stability.

There are political reasons, whatever may be said about the equities of the situation, involved in these legislative decisions. The brewery workers' union is noted for its political action program. In Milwaukee the brewery industry is big and influential. Wisconsin has no distilleries or tobacco factories. Yet the time is coming when no part of the strained tax base of Wisconsin, whatever its historical potency, can reasonably expect a favored status. The overwhelming evidence of expenditure demand may not be welcomed, but it cannot be denied, nevertheless.

Is There a Right to Disobey Law?

Whenever unjust laws exist, conscientious men have the right to disobey those laws. That is the thesis advanced by Dr. Martin Luther King in a lecture to the New York City Bar Association recently.

Dr. King did add, however, that those who practice civil disobedience must be willing to accept the penalties of the law. "In disobeying such unjust laws, we do so peacefully, openly and nonviolently," the Negro minister who won the Nobel Prize declared. "Most important, we willingly accept the penalty, whatever it is, for in this way the public comes to re-examine the law in question."

Dr. King cited the demonstrations in Selma, Alabama, as an example. "Over 3000 Negroes from all walks of life went to jail, suffered brutality and discomfort, so that the nation could re-examine the voting registration laws and find them woefully inadequate."

Questioned about civil disobedience in the north, where demonstrations have often protested injustice rather than unjust laws, Dr. King also claimed for his race the right to engage in civil disobedience to oppose injustices of any kind.

The Negro leader is on extremely dangerous ground. He is rationalizing a minority's breaking of the law by advocating that violators must then submit to the penalties provided by law. But the vital point he completely overlooks is this question: Who decides what law is unjust? If every individual claims this right of decision, government by law will be replaced by anarchy.

Crescent Notes on Murderer Booth

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for May 22, 1865.

The assassin of the President is alleged to be J Wilkes Booth, an actor, and a son of Junius Brutus Booth, senior, the noted tragedian now dead.

Booth the elder had three sons—Junius Brutus Jr., Wilkes and Edwin. All three of the sons have been known as tragedians of talent, although none of them were ever regarded as the equal of the father. Wilkes, Edwin and Junius Brutus, Jr., are all now living.

The former—the wretch who committed the murder—is a resident of Maryland. The motive which actuated him to perpetrate this crime is yet a mystery.

His father was a man of crazy and ungovernable temperament; so much so that he was the terror of every stage upon which he appeared. It is a singular fact in this connection that he—the father—was named after the most noted state conspirator and murderer of the Roman empire, and it is not improbable that his guilty son was moved by some inspiration of the bottomless pit to seek an immortality of infamy by following the example of the tragic character with whose acts he is professionally so familiar.

Photographs of the murderer of President Lincoln may be had at Frank Bernard's Store.

Viet Cong Plan Drive to Cut Viet Nam in Two; U.S. Replies

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

If the best U. S. intelligence can be trusted, the strange noises emanating from Hanoi and Peking can be compared to the underground rumblings that sometimes precede great landscape-changing earthquakes.

The Communist Viet Cong "main force" — organized and trained as formal tactical units — are being regrouped south of the big U. S. airbase at Da Nang to launch a drive to split South Viet Nam.

Fifteen or more battalions, many equipped with North Vietnamese-led heavy weapons units of recoilless rifles and mortars, have been identified in Quangnam and Quangnai Provinces.

These "elite" Communist forces are expected to spearhead the drive to split South Viet Nam in two from Laos to the South China Sea coastline. The strategy is to close the north-south Highway No. 1, cutting off the Da Nang airbase from Saigon, where the U. S. military command is located.

This ominous threat is the reason behind President Johnson's emergency decision to increase American forces in South Viet Nam.

He has approved the commitment of the equivalent of another U. S. Army combat division to Viet Nam the next few weeks in a desperate effort to block the Communist tactical move.

If necessary, these troops (approximately 20,000) will go directly into combat in a major U. S. effort to blunt the new Communist offensive and avoid a land encirclement of the strategic Da Nang airbase.

A division of South Viet Nam by the Reds would mean that the airbase and its 3rd Division Marine defenders could be supplied only by sea, requiring a major naval operation. By moving in anti-aircraft guns, the Communists might even be able to "neutralize" the base and its several hundred U. S. and South Vietnamese aircraft.

The seriousness of the situation is directed by the briefing one high-ranking military officer gave a group of congressmen. "You would think we were fighting an Indian war, they way the Marines are being forced to defend 'Fort' Da Nang," he said.

"The political controls are so tight that the Marines must keep Washington advised of all patrols outside their defense perimeter. It reminds you of Custer's last stand. The Marines were never trained to fight that kind of war."

While the Communists are expected to launch probing actions against the Da Nang defenses, reports from Saigon indicate that Viet Cong shock troops will avoid a head-on clash with the tough Marines until they succeed in cutting South Viet Nam in two.

If that should happen, Ho Chi Minh is expected to accept President Johnson's offer of "unconditional discussions" and bring Viet Cong officials as part of his delegation.

While the President has kept silent about the Viet Cong's role in any Viet Nam talks, his aides made an unsuccessful attempt to include in his Baltimore speech a statement about possible amnesty and other forms of political reintegration for the Communists.

Significantly, the President omitted the statement not because of its content but on the ground it was too long and complicated.

Fish Tanks Now Grounds for Getting Divorce

A thirty-eight-year-old Chicago woman is suing for divorce because her husband spent nearly $2,500 on tropical fish and equipment. The wife claims she is left with only her bedroom and a part of the kitchen where she can get away from the fish.

When the wife reached the end of her patience, there were six fish-filled tanks, ranging in capacity from five to 20 gallons, in the apartment, and many of her pots and pans were filled with fish. There were also three fishbowls containing snails, and the husband was getting ready to add a 50-gallon tank.

Along with the divorce, the wife asked child support and the household furnishings.

Did she want the fish, containers and equipment? No tanks.

Party Leaders Would Put Spending Curb On Local Governments

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Many a municipal official of Wisconsin would have spent some uncomfortable moments in a state Senate committee room a few days ago if he had been present to listen to the indignant criticism of a trio of representative state senators on the debt practices of local governments.

Wyngaard

Sens. McParland and Benson, Democrats of suburban Milwaukee, and Sen. Jerris Leonard, Republican, joined in a spirited denunciation of debt accumulation by local government in what they said is sometimes a defiance of the wishes of local taxpayers, and in too many instances, without their knowledge. Their proposition was a new law that would prohibit any debt by communities of more than a million dollars in the aggregate per year without the express consent of the electors of the borrowing district in a referendum ballot.

There are comparatively few issues of any consequence upon which serious partisans of different parties agree in the Legislature. Thus there was a certain novelty in hearing Benson and McParland, on the one hand, and Leonard, as a devout Republican, joining in complaints ranging from costly frills in local public buildings representing debt to be paid by future generations of taxpayers, to the accusation that too many local public officials have a proprietary conception of their jobs and powers and a certain contempt for the wishes and the intelligence of their constituents.

MEANING

Is this a sign of a potential taxpayer protest movement that some of the politicians admit they fear when they contemplate the rising curve of expenditure, taxes, debt and deficit?

Perhaps. But more likely it relates to another phenomenon of modern life, which is the frustration and the rootlessness of many serious citizens in the suburban environment in which so many of them live today.

The three state senators who made a little oratorical show about irresponsible debt practices and extravagant spending obviously felt they had a fruitful publicity issue—with respect to their own local political positions. But it was a striking coincidence that they represent suburban voters in a metropolitan area, where town and other governmental boundaries are fluid and confused, where local government tends to be remote and anonymous, and where the ordinary avenues of political communication are weak and ineffectual if they are viable at all.

The proposition before the committee, as the authors were obliged to admit, is impracticable—at least without important amendments. What is an extravagant borrowing in a small town may well be a reasonable one in a larger taxing jurisdiction of greater population. The authors appeared not to be aware that with respect to bonding there is already a provision for a referendum upon petition. There were strange exceptions to the proposed restrictions, as some of the skeptical committee members noted quickly.

BUT YET

Notwithstanding, it is likely that there were some silent listeners in that hearing room who were sympathetic to the cause represented so earnestly by the three state senators, and especially if they have had any experience living in a suburban municipal jurisdiction. This correspondent once has such an experience and it was one of the instructive episodes of his life as a political reporter.

There tugs at the sleeve also the idea that the collective debt of the state and its subdivisions would be considerably smaller if the people had been consulted each step of the way. That idea evidently didn't occur to Sen. Leonard, as one of the sponsors of the debt restricting bill, for he wears another hat as a member of the state building commission which builds "dummy" corporations to accumulate a rapidly growing state government long-term debt. A provocative question: would those debts be approved if his popular referendum idea was applied to state bonding for buildings that may appear "frilly" to some critical eyes?

Strictly Personal

There's No Common Meaning for 'Freedom'

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

If, as I suggested yesterday, we cannot agree or define or pin down such seemingly obvious terms as "marriage," and "unemployment" and "delinquency," what chance is there that we can agree on what we mean by so broad and loose a word as "freedom"?

Harris

One reason we cannot understand, or come to grips with, the problems of peoples in under-developed countries is our lack of a common basis (and common experience) for talking with one another.

What I mean has been succinctly expressed by Felix Greene, in his book, "The Wall Has Two Sides," published a couple of years ago. Writing about Red China, he explains: "When a Chinese worker or peasant says he is freer today than he has ever been in his life, he means it. Perhaps he does not mean it in our way, for he has never known the particular forms of political and social freedom which have been the product of our own historical past and which are the fruit of our relative physical security."

"A Chinese uses the word 'freedom' in a very personal, down-to-earth sense. He is not talking about abstractions, but about experience. He means that he is at last free to eat, and not to starve, he is free of the landlord and the money-lender.

"He is free to learn to read and write, he is free to develop skills that would otherwise have remained hidden, he is free to send his children to school, and when they are ill, there is a doctor to help make them well, he is free to look at the future with hope, not despair. For him, these are all new freedoms."

Communism Way
This is how communism "conquers" under-developed and poverty-stricken nations — by abrogating all political and individual freedom (which means little to a starving man) and replacing it with food, housing, medical care, schools, and technical training. It strikes a bargain that the peasants and workers are only too glad to pay — for the "freedom" they have given up is one they have never been allowed to exercise.

Western capitalism has not understood this simple equation. Our political and individual freedoms are precious to us because they are the "surplus value" of a society that has never known famine and pestilence and tyranny as a normal way of life. But a hungry man, as Cato said long ago, has no ears; he votes with his stomach.

It is the human person who needs and desires our sort of freedom; but we do not become persons until our animal wants are gratified, until we no longer live from day to day and hand to mouth. Communism appeals to the biological man; we to the political man. At this stage of the world's development, it seems an unequal contest.

position To claim any victory is ridiculous. What we want is a positive determination by the court saying in effect that North Central has to move. This order only says so by inference."

New Case

Neither of the federal judges could be reached for comment on Monday's ruling, but Deputy Court Clerk Elmer Oja told The Post-Crescent today that the court has had to docket a new case because of this matter.

We've had a dozen long distance phone calls from all over the county from attorneys asking what the court ruling means. All I can say is that Outagamie County's emergency motion was presented to the court and that they agreed with you.

But I understand," Oja said, "that there are several motions for clarification coming from all over."

CAB in Dark

Equally in the dark about the effect of the court ruling is O. D. Oment, the CAB's counsel in the litigation.

"I don't know what the court order means," he said, "and why the court found it necessary to term it an emergency motion."

But I suppose it can be said that the court has stayed the board's order and that leaves the situation just as though Outagamie County had closed the old airport without there having been any action by the board one way or another.

Oment was asked if that means he agrees with Ponath's interpretation of the court ruling.

No Opinion

"I have no opinion one way or another," he said, "because these are highly unusual circumstances. We've never been involved in a case quite like this before."

At this moment we are considering making a petition to the court for reconsideration of their order and that we have made a request for clarification. We will file something with the court. The situation is very clouded at the moment, but you can expect that we will do something."

Appleton attorneys speculate that if the CAB requests the federal court to reconsider, the board must feel the court ruling compels North Central to move to the new airport

The action also affects Air Wisconsin the new urban airline being formed in Appleton to link the Fox Cities with O'Hare Field in Chicago.

The airline has sold nearly all of its stock and Monday, the airlines board of directors authorized its officers to go ahead with the purchase of the aircraft.

River Recluse Silent Henry Winning Battle With Floods

By RON SPEER

CLINTON, Iowa (AP) — The unmanageable Mississippi River, which has humbled mighty cities on its rampaging race to the sea, is losing its battle with Silent Henry.

The elderly recluse is still riding high and dry as he continues his personal feud with the worst flood in the river's history.

Known locally by no other name, Silent Henry is perched on a raft tied to a tree on an island at the north end of Clinton. The island is under several feet of water.

The unfriendly old fellow definitely doesn't want any help. A Coast Guard boat which pulled near his home on the water got no answer when he was asked if assistance was needed.

of 3.2 per cent, or 14 cents, plus a 3.9 per cent cost-of-living hike. Steelworkers now average $4.40 per hour in wages and fringe benefits.

Wage Increases

The White House guidelines for non-inflationary wage increases are based on what government economists estimate as the annual increase in productivity per man-hour in industry as a whole.

Steel negotiators, until Monday had insisted productivity gains in the steel industry are only about 2 per cent and had refused to go higher.

In achieving the 11.5 cent

figure, we clearly broke the 2 per cent limit which the companies had placed on any economic settlement," McDonald said.

The four-month strike postponement also is expected to give time to settle the contest for the Steelworkers' presidency between McDonald and the union's secretary-treasurer, I. W. Abel.

Abel is expected to be declared winner of the Feb. 9 election within a few days and McDonald is expected to challenge the result, asking the Labor Department to investigate, and go to court to seek a new election under provisions of federal labor law.

The McDonald-Abel contest complicated the steel negotiations. The industry reportedly was reluctant to make a full settlement until it knows who will wind up at the head of the union.

Rights Pickets At Three Spots In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators turned their attention to three downtown locations today following 24 arrests at a federal construction site.

A spokesman for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said there would be only symbolic pickets at the federal office building. Demonstrators are protesting what they say is discrimination in trades unions working on the 32-floor, $32-million project.

The NAACP also planned to picket City Hall, across the street. The Congress of Racial Equality announced plans to picket the Board of Education building.

Sit-in and stand-in demonstrators, including Cleveland NAACP director Harold B. Williams, were arrested Monday at the downtown office building site, while 40 others picketed across the street.

Cool, Wet, Cloudy Weather Prevails In Much of Nation

Cool, wet and cloudy weather covered wide areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic coast today, with clear skies in most of the western third of the nation.

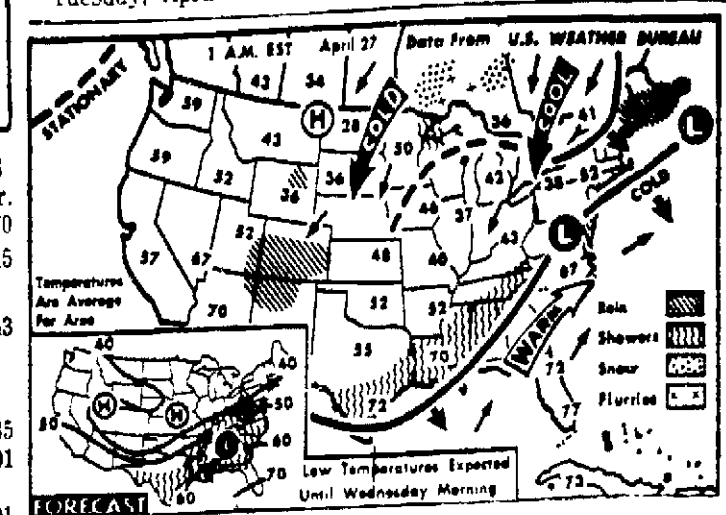

Thunderstorms rumbled across areas from Alabama to southern Texas during the night and early morning. Damaging wind storms were reported in the Birmingham, Ala., area.

Heavy rain hit sections of southern Texas, with hail in some cities. Winds up to 50 m.p.h. swept San Antonio in a thunderstorm. Nearly 1 1/2 inches of rain doused Del Rio, in southwestern Texas, in a six-hour period.

Light rain sprinkled areas in the Northeast, the northern Plains and in the southern Rockies. No rain was reported along the flood-stricken areas of Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri.

The Weather Bureau said that rain fell in 43 of the adjacent states Monday.

Temperatures were mostly below normal in most of the Midwest and in wide areas across sections from New England and the eastern Great Lakes to Oklahoma, New Mexico and northern Texas. Cooler weather was indicated from the Carolinas to Louisiana.

Scattered Thunderstorms and showers will stretch from the southern Plains to the middle and south Atlantic states Tuesday night with occasional periods of rain in the Appalachians and lower Lakes area. It will be warmer from the Rockies to the upper Mississippi and cooler in most of the eastern third of the nation, except for the deep south. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Johnson Runs Into Divided Policy Opinion

President Likes
To Think He Talks
For U. S. 'Consensus'

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson likes to think he is expressing an American consensus when he does something. But he is running into some divided opinion on his policy in Viet Nam.

He is sensitive to criticism but he is being criticized on what is happening in Southeast Asia. Among the critics some students, some professors, some segments of the press, some members of Congress, particularly in his own Democratic party.

But he is getting it from the Communists too. Ever since the Chinese Premier Chou En-lai branded Johnson's call for unconditional discussions on Viet Nam a plot, the Soviet Union says the United States is threatening Southeast Asia with nuclear blackmail.

Temporary Halt
Recently Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested a temporary halt in the U. S. bombing of North Viet Nam in an effort to encourage the Reds to negotiate.

After that members of Fulbright's committee staff said they got hundreds of letters and that 90 per cent of them supported his proposal.

But former President Dwight D. Eisenhower fully supports Johnson and so does former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Johnson has had vigorous support from the Senate's Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

This is a switch from what happened to President Harry S. Truman in the early days of the Korean war when it was going badly. Republicans were on his back. But in all this one point may get overlooked.

Blank Check
Johnson got a blank check from Congress last Aug. 7 to do what he is doing. At that time both houses approved a resolution giving the President approval in advance for any action he might take in the Southeast Asia crisis.

The House voted 416 to 0 for the Senate 88 to 2. The two dissenters were Democrats, Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska. They are now two of his most persistent critics, particularly Morse.

Monday, Morse denounced American policy in Viet Nam, calling it immoral and Godless. He said Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara should have been removed long ago.

Gruening complains Johnson is being advised by warhawks and called the situation "hopeless."

Talk Nonsense
The Johnson administration stinging under all this is reacting. Monday, McNamara held a news conference to explain what is happening. Last week Rusk in a speech charged critics of the U. S. policy with talking nonsense.

Johnson was to hold a news conference today. The State Department says it is stepping up speech making, appearances by foreign policy officers to discuss Viet Nam in response to mounting requests from around the country.

In all this some of the basic positions on both sides get lost. The Johnson position put out by the State Department goes like this:

The problem is Communist aggression and the South Vietnamese asked American help. The United States will pull out when the Reds decide to leave their neighbors alone. To pull out before then would be throwing 14 million South Vietnamese to the mercy of Communism. Communist aggression is world wide and if the Reds are allowed to succeed in Southeast Asia, they'll move again soon or late.

Civil War
This statement, by accusing the Communists of aggression, repudiates the critics' argument that the war in Viet Nam is just a civil war. And it takes the position that the United States must try to stop Communist expansion.

Some of the criticism is moral, some is based on moral revulsion to the American bombing. One of the most distinguished critics is Hans J. Morganthau, director of the Center for the Study of American Foreign and Military Policy at the University of Chicago.

He takes the position that by containing communism in Asia, this country is only assuming it is continuing the communism of China. He argues the North Vietnamese Reds will become Red China's satellite only if this country forces them to.

The Two Couples above spent an evening at poolside, even though April has loudly stated its aversion to spring and warm sunny weather. Castle Club dance committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fox and Mr. and Mrs. David Schuster.

Castle Club Brings Summer to a Party

Members of the Castle Dance Club, tired of waiting for a reluctant spring, staged a 'Beach Party' Saturday evening at KP Hall. Umbrella - covered tables lined the walls, with a portable pool the focal point in the center of the dance floor.

Members wore old-fashioned bathing suits or summer sports togs. Topiary trees, paper fish and netting created an appropriate warm weather atmosphere.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knox were party chairmen, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. George Nowell, co-chairmen. Committee members were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Barney, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wenzlaff and Mr. and Mrs. David Schuster.
